WORLD BANKS BIG POWER IN PEACE REIGN

Concerted Action May Keep Down Martial Spirit
Rife in Europe

Washington—(CPA) Efforts at world peace which thus far have dealt with theoretical cooperation through the Kellogg treaties and the League of Nations have now come to a practical stage, long discussed but little practiced, namely concerted action by the money-lending nations to eradicate the bellicose tendencies of the borrowing countries.

Although relatively little has been said publicly in the last few weeks about the use of financial pressure in world affairs, there no longer is any doubt that since the last Paris Peace conference and the London naval conference and the Geneva sessions on armament reduction have come to naught, the only language that some nations can understand—the only power that some nations will recognize—has been brought into action. For several months rumors have been coming to America of a new war in Europe. Strange tales of new alliances and alignments with intrigue in central Europe have constituted a subject not only of concern to the American government but to the investment banking community in New York where so many billions of dollars in foreign loans have been floated.

The United States has material stake in world peace unparalleled in its history. Not only are billions of dollars invested in foreign countries but the investment in foreign trade and commerce is an even greater cause for apprehension.

FRANCE FEARS DUE

France, and Italy, have been looking askance at each other and the view prevailing here has been that France is not at all interested in increasing her armament but is compelled to watch the trend of the Mussolini dictatorship with anxious eyes. The Mussolini government is desirous of financial aid from time to time and the industries of Italy need foreign capital for development. Lately Italy has begun to develop an understanding with Soviet Russia.

Two of the fugitives were sentenced for slayings, one for arson, one for assault, two for burglary and one for violating a parole.

The woman cook and an armed masked man entered her bedroom, Mrs. Dupkin told police. They took her to the staircase to which they bound her with wet towels and a chain, and after gagging her proceeded to loot the house.

Mrs. Dupkin said the cook gave the name of Jeanne Babrika. She hired her a week ago and did not investigate a reference the woman gave.

RAYMOND POINCARE

PARIS LOOKS TO POINCARE IN NEW CRISIS

Herriot Also Visits President to Discuss French
Cabinet

Paris—(AP)—President Doumergue received Raymond Poincare, and Edouard Herriot at the Elysee palace in response to a presidential invitation.

Both men have served as premier and it was assumed that they discussed the cabinet crisis with the president. Neither would make any security enter directly and promptly.

International disarmament and recently into the French ministerial crisis, Paul Boncour, France's leading authority on disarmament and former representative at the league of nations told President Doumergue today.

M. Boncour, who is president of the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies, was called in by President Doumergue for a consultation regarding the choice of a premier to succeed Andre Tardieu who resigned yesterday. He counseled the president to choose a cabinet which would give a first place to disarmament and security because the preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva has succeeded in preparing a draft convention, and because, he said, the forthcoming general disarmament conference will have a vital effect upon the future of Europe.

France, he told the president, will play an important role at this pre-disarmament and must enter it with prestige and figures "based upon the guarantees of international security which will be given us."

The Tardieu government was defeated in the senate and censured for the conduct of the government during the current financial scandal, 147 to 139.

Whatever the desires of those talking to the president for a minority headed by Herriot, it appeared that the answer to the crisis lay in M. Poincare.

"I have run down several tips but obtained no clew as to the driver of the automobile," Sheriff Hempelman said. "Apparently there was no one who witnessed the accident or saw the machine speed away."

Funeral services for the victims, Howard, 11, and Gerald, 7, sons of Alvin and Mrs. F. C. Mortenson, were scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at New Lisbon. The boys were killed as they walked along Highway 12 toward their farm home after school.

FAMILY MEETS THIRD DEATH IN PAST YEAR

Injuries from Automobile
Accident Fatal to Michael
Van Groll

The third death in the Van Groll family within the past year, Michael Van Groll, 48, town of Harrison, died in Appleton Thursday afternoon from injuries received in an automobile accident on John-st, Appleton on Oct. 9. The aged father of the Van Groll family, John A. Van Groll, Sr., died suddenly last week while attending mass at Holy Angels church at Darboy, and his son, Matthew was electrocuted last February at a mill at Neenah.

Michael Van Groll received severe facial fractures and lacerations when the car in which he was riding with Henry Quell of Darboy, missed a curve on John-st and crashed into a culvert. The lights of an approaching car blinded the driver. Van Groll was taken to a hospital, where his injuries were considered dangerous, though hope was held out for his recovery. Two weeks ago, according to his brother, Joseph Van Groll, infection set in, resulting in his death Thursday afternoon.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. John A. Van Groll, Sr., five brothers, Henry, Manitowoc, John town of Menasha, Frank, Kimberly, Antone, Manitowish, and Joseph of Darboy; one sister, Mrs. Fred Haase, Seymour; Mr. Van Groll was a member of the St. Joseph society of Holy Angels church of Darboy, and of the Leo Van Roy post of the American Legion, Darboy. The funeral will be held at 9:30 Tuesday morning, with services at 10 o'clock at Holy Angels church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

$3,500,000 ASKED FOR U. W. BUILDINGS

Program to Extend Over
Several Years Laid Before
Budget Group

Madison—(AP)—A $3,500,000 building program for the University of Wisconsin, to extend over several years, was presented to the state budget committee today in addition to a biennial request of $9,137,206 for operation of the institution.

The biennial request, which includes operating expenses, maintenance and miscellaneous capital, is $700,000 more than the 1929 legislature appropriated for the present biennium. That sum was $6,408,840.

The building request, which amounts to $3,569,660, is for six new buildings, listed in the order of urgency as:

A new library, $1,499,460; law and social science building, $350,000; electrical engineering building, $345,000; a dairy building, $329,000, and a livestock institute, $260,000. The only other large item is $155,000 for an addition to the home economics building.

The building request is an increase of nearly $3,000,000 over monies appropriated the last biennium. The legislature apportioned $688,851 for building at the 1929 session.

Milwaukee—(AP)—Mrs. Emily Siebert, 28, who was allegedly wounded by George F. Engel, 33, after a roadhouse tryst, died today of peritonitis. Engel had been held at the county jail since the shooting Sept. 30 and was scheduled for hearing today on charges of assault with intent to kill.

Mrs. Siebert was the wife of Ben Siebert, a contractor and the mother of three small children. She was wounded in Engel's automobile as they returned home after spending the day together.

New Setback In Stanton, Smith Extradition Case

State Unable to Identify Bullets
Taken from Jack
Zuta's Body

Chicago—(AP)—Efforts on the part of the state to extradite Danny Stanton and Edgar Smith, his bodyguard, to Wisconsin for trial on charges of slaying Jack Zuta, Chicago gangster, suffered another reversal yesterday through the inability of the state to identify bullets said to have been taken from Zuta's body and the testimony of a witness that he had been coerced into identifying photographs of Stanton and Smith as the slayers.

Chief Justice John McGoorty of the criminal court indicated that a ruling on the case would be made Saturday morning.

Council for Stanton and Smith was successful in producing testimony that bullets held as evidence in the case had never been marked, and therefore could not be identified as those which killed Zuta.

Prosecutor Herman Saleh of Waukegan (Wis.) county said he had been told the bullets were taken from Zuta's body, but could not actually identify them as the fatal pellets. Henry Porsche, deputy Waukegan coroner and Sergeant Frank Donaghy and Charles Reynolds of the coroner's office also were unable to say whether the bullets were found in Zuta's body.

Emil Hoefs, bartender at the Delafield, Wis., resort where Zuta was slain, told the court he had been persuaded to sign a statement purporting to identify Stanton and Smith as the killers.

"I finally signed it," he related, "after Prosecutor Saleh told me I should sign it as it didn't mean anything anyway."

FOSTER REFUSES TO DIVULGE RED GROUP

Says Evidence Would Be
"Used Against Us in Police Court"

Washington—(AP)—William Z. Foster, Communist leader, refused today to give to the house committee investigating Communist activities in this country the names of members of the American Communist central committee.

Questioned at an open hearing, Foster said:

"I'm not submitting any names to this committee, if you please."

Asked his reason, he replied that "such evidence could only be elicited for eventual use against us in police court."

The Communist said he was a member of the committee and said no one had priority over him. He declared the purpose of the house committee was to have the Communist organization outlawed.

At the outset, Foster refused to be sworn by Chairman Fish, of the committee, and in reply to a question that he did not believe in a deity. He consented to affirming that he would tell the truth.

Twice a candidate for the presidency and once for the governorship of New York, he said he was born in Taunton, Mass., of Irish and English parentage. He was a member of the American Federation of Labor until expelled less than a year ago.

Foster read a prepared statement which said there are 9,000,000 unemployed in the United States.

"Those who are still employed," he said, "are having their wages slashed and are being speeded up beyond the limit of human endurance."

He said the Fish committee is "protecting" the capitalist system "against the protests of the worker."

WHEELER ATTACKS U. S. INDIAN ADMINISTRATION

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Charges that the government's administration of Indian affairs was "little less than criminal" were made today by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, at a senate Indian subcommittee hearing of interior department officials.

The Montana said the subcommittee found "pitiful conditions" on that visit to the southwest and observed "something had to be done to correct the field situation because agents are sitting around doing nothing."

Wheeler said he "appreciated" that Charles J. Rhoads, Indian commissioner, and his assistant, J. Henry Scattergood, had not been in office long, but added they should see to it that conditions the subcommittee found should be corrected.

FIND AVIATOR'S BODY IN AIRPLANE WRECK

Buffalo, N. Y.—(AP)—The body of William M. Griffin, aviator, today was on the way to Hamilton, Ont., his former home, for burial.

Griffin, who in recent years had lived in Berea, Ohio, was killed Nov. 24, after he had taken off in his plane from Buffalo for Cleveland. His body was found yesterday in the wreckage of his plane in a wooded section of the Chautauque hills. The tier had been blown from his course along Lake Erie by a severe wind and snowstorm.

Fox hunters came upon the wreckage buried under two feet of snow. The body of the pilot had been frozen stiff. In the forehead there was a deep gash. A coroner said death probably was instantaneous.

STATE CHEESE INDUSTRY FACING RUIN, IS CLAIM

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Wisconsin cheese industry today is faced with ruin, in the opinion of Frank A. Flynn, Pulaski, newly elected president of the Wisconsin Cheese Makers' association in convention here.

"Wisconsin's cheese-making industry, for years the most valuable asset of the farmers of the state, faces ruin," he said a few minutes after his election yesterday. "There is on foot a powerful movement to put the crossroads cheese factory out of business. In its place are to be a few great centralized plants that will make milk products no guarantee of prices or qualities."

FOG BLANKET DELAYS SHIPPING ON THAMES

London—(AP)—One of the thickest fogs in years covered the Thames estuary today, completely halting shipping. Among the boats at a standstill were the American merchant, the Cunarder Aurania, the Orient liner Orvieto, and passenger steamers of the Thames-Dunkirk service.

Many persons bound for the continent and others awaiting friends on incoming liners at Tilbury had to take hotel accommodations last night on the shore.

Senate Expected To Give Doak Approval Next Week

Washington—(AP)—Barring unexpected developments, William N. Doak may be able to take office as secretary of labor Monday or Tuesday of next week.

His nomination gained the approval of the senate labor committee yesterday. The senate did not act upon it before recessing for the weekend because Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, insisted upon the usual procedure under which reports must be over for a day. But Couzens said he had no objection to nomination of the Virginia and no other senator indicated opposition. The American Federation of Labor withdrew its objection to Doak right after his name was sent to the senate.

Confirmation Monday appeared probable.

The long weekend recess was taken mainly to recruit committee members.

M'NARY WOULD ADD TO FIGURE SET BY HOOVER

Committee Head Says He Expects Senate to Pass
Bill Next Week

Washington—(AP)—Despite the administration recommendation for allotting $25,000,000 to drought relief, Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee, said today he favored putting $50,000,000 up for the purpose and expected the senate to pass a bill calling for that amount next week.

The chairman's expression was coincident with the appearance before his committee of several Democratic senators, testifying on behalf of the $50,000,000 measure sponsored originally by McNary. He subsequently introduced the $25,000,000 measure as well, in line with the budget bureau recommendation.

McNary said he wanted the committee to complete its consideration of the bill today or tomorrow, so he could submit the report to the senate Monday and ask for its immediate consideration.

None of the witnesses advocated the budget bureau figure.

Preliminary to tomorrow's vote by the house agriculture committee on the administration bill, representative Aswell, served notice he would make the vote public. It will be taken in closed session.

A bill by Aswell for the $50,000,000 loan fund was introduced before the committee today by Representative Whitlinton, Missouri, Tennessee, Alabama, and You, Florida, Democrats, and Representative Sinclair, Republican, North Dakota.

The ranking Republican on the committee, Representative Purnell of Indiana, predicted the administration bill would be approved.

DISORDERS BREAK UP SESSION IN RUMANIA

Bucharest, Rumania—(AP)—Pandemonium reigned in the chamber of deputies today after an altercation between M. Madgearu, government minister, and a Liberal deputy who wanted to know why so many coal mines were being closed down.

M. Madgearu replied that it was because the Liberals had not yet paid their caviar bills which were still owing to the government fisheries department. He said the Liberal leader, Vintila Bratianu, "still owes 14,000 lei and the government treasury was left empty at the end of your rule."

The session had to be suspended because of the disorders.

THREE CHILDREN PERISH WHEN FARM HOME BURNS

Albany, Minn.—(AP)—Two children were burned to death and a third died of suffocation today in a fire which destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerads, 10 miles north of here.

The dead were Martha, 5; Marvin, 4 and Jerome, 2.

The father rescued Jerome but the lad died a few minutes later from suffocation. Twice more he entered the house but each time was driven back by flames and smoke. The mother was not home, having been in a hospital for an operation.

Gerads had built a fire in the stove and went out to the barn. When he returned a few minutes later the house was ablaze.

Loescher Is Slated For Postal Job

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Clarence A. Loescher is slated to be named postmaster at Menasha, it was learned here, but if his nomination is sent to the senate, he may face difficulty in obtaining speedy confirmation.

So far, the president has not sent to the senate any nominations for postmasterhips at any of the places in Wisconsin where the positions have been hanging fire for some time, such as Appleton, Menasha, Racine, and so on.

Sen. John J. Blaine said he had been informed that charges against Loescher were about to be placed before the committee on postoffices and post roads.

Loescher's appointment was recommended by William Campbell of Oshkosh and Rep. John C. Schaefer of Milwaukee, neither the Rep. or Senator Lampert of Oshkosh nor the present Rep. Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac, a Democrat, having any patronage.

Meanwhile, Postmaster Wallace R. Pierce continues to hold the $3,300 job. He is also on the list eligible for appointment, Emil H. Schultz being the third eligible candidate.

Postmaster Pierce has served two full terms and has continued to serve since his last commission expired on Jan. 13.

The president has not yet returned to the senate the nomination of Postmaster Wallace M. Comstock at Oconto, which was not confirmed last July.

EXPULSION STATE SENATOR FOR ALLEGED GRAFT

Trenton, N. J.—(AP)—The state senate today expelled Ralph W. Chandless, Republican, of Bergen county, by a vote of 20 to 0. The charge against him was that he used his office for private gain by influencing the placing of $200,000 of state funds in the Little Ferry National bank which used the money to purchase sewer bonds. It was charged that Chandless received a fee of $10,000 from Little Ferry sewer contractors.

WOLL MAPS OUT PLAN TO ASSURE MORE WORK

Philadelphia—(AP)—Labor's solution of unemployment can be found in higher wages and fewer working hours and days, Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, said today. He spoke at a conference of the American Academy of Political and Social Science on the general topic of "security in industry."

Woll said adoption of this plan would increase opportunities for employment and put in a minor role all other unemployment remedies.

FOUR STORES RAZED AFTER GAS BLASTS

Leaking Main Blamed for Disaster—Policeman Hit
by Flying Debris

Beloit—(AP)—Damage from fire which destroyed four downtown stores and partially ruined three adjoining shops following two gas explosions was estimated at $750,000 today by E. A. Lufkin, city building inspector.

Smoldering ember prevented Fire Chief Paul Roth from establishing the cause of the fire, but it was generally believed it originated from a faulty gas main in the E. L. Chester and Co. dry goods store basement.

The shock of the explosion was felt three miles away. Nearly all of the windows in nearby buildings were shattered and many were broken in residences within a radius of ten blocks.

In addition to razing the E. L. Chester store, the Webster Mills Clothing store, the Anderson Jewelry store, and a Universal grocery, the flames caused considerable damage to the Hughes Clothing, Terry Candy, and Clara Stone stores.

Patrolman Leslie Sheehan, stationed directly across the street from the Chester store where the explosion originated, was injured by flying glass and debris. He turned in an alarm before he was led away for first aid treatment.

The explosions followed each other in close succession, the first blowing off a large section of the Chester store roof. Flames filled the interior of the store and spread to adjoining buildings following the second blast.

Policeman Sheehan had been stationed at "La Vida" because a report had been received that a strong odor of gas was noticeable in the area. Police had not been alerted at the Wisconsin Power and Light Co. plants, who tried to avert the accident by turning off neighboring gas mains.

Beloit firemen responded to the alarm at 6 o'clock a. m. and, with the aid of the Rockford, Ill., department, had the fire under control an hour and a half later.

GUNBOAT ENDANGERED BY FIRE FROM COMMUNISTS

Kiukiang, China—(AP)—The British gunboat Aphis was gravely endangered yesterday by cannon fire in what was said to have been the sharpest engagement in many months between red cannonners in the Yangtze river shores above this city, and foreign gunboats patrolling the river.

The reds, it was said, instead of firing their usual scattered shots at the gunboat, kept up a continuous bombardment, dropping 25 shells from their muzzle-loading cannon.

The Aphis replied with 50 shots from her 6-inch guns but even these failed to dislodge the reds or silence their cannon. The reds were well-hidden behind breakwaters and continued firing until the boat passed from range.

Must Adjust Farm Production, Consumption, Board Says

REVIEWS PAST YEAR'S WORK IN ITS REPORT

Outlook for Wheat During Next Few Years Not Held Encouraging

Washington, Dec. 5.—The farm board reported to congress today that agriculture, to achieve a par with industry, must adjust production to consumption and perfect a self-controlled, economic system of distribution.

The first annual report of the board contained the views, along with a summary of the past year's studies, accomplishments and experiments.

Out of its own experience with wheat and cotton the board was able to tell the legislators that stabilization operations, without the backing of adjusted production, have a limited field. The board members pointed to the results of their own stabilization efforts as an indication of some of the "difficulties and hazards" involved.

Particularly, they said, did the failure of cotton producers to curtail acreage substantially in 1930, lead to defeat of stabilization measures.

As for wheat, the board said it had concluded the world outlook would remain gloomy through 1937 with the general price trend downward.

CAN'T STOP MOVEMENT

"The board could see no hope," it said, "for arresting such a movement or preventing its serious consequences to American wheat farmers, by co-operative marketing as such, by stabilization measures of the type already employed, or through adopting any of the proposed measures designed to dispose of the surplus abroad at prices below domestic levels."

"The obvious economic remedy... is curtailment of production... so that the tariff might become effective on American products."

Another recommendation emphasized by the board was reforestation, taking up marginal lands of little present value to preserve them for future years.

The board said its major activities had been devoted to building up farmer-owned and controlled marketing systems, done on a regional or national scale for nearly a score of commodities. This major long-time undertaking was supplemented with the emergency loans and stabilization commitments, totaling a net of $248,659,476. During the year it received repayments of $49,195,828, which returned to the revolving fund for other loans. At the end of the fiscal year outstanding advances totaled $148,616,194. The stabilization operations up to the fiscal year end totaled $15,000,000 for cotton and $80,000,000 for wheat.

The board was authorized to receive, under the Farm Marketing act creating it, a revolving fund of $500,000,000. Of this $150,000,000 was appropriated immediately and $100,000,000 last April.

CLARK RETURNS FROM CHICAGO CONFERENCE

CITY ELECTRICIAN WARNS MERCHANTS OF DECORATIONS

Be Careful in Installing Christmas Lights, He Advises

Merchants planning to use electric lights or appliances for decorative purposes in Christmas window displays are asked to confer with the city electrician before installing the lights, as the installation of temporary lighting systems by unskilled or unreliable workmen and without the supervision of a master electrician is an exceedingly unsafe practice.

Many of the older types of lighting installations have serious deficiencies, says the electrician. Often lamps are so located that combustible materials displayed in the windows come in close contact with them, chain fixtures frequently have exposed conductors, receptacles of unsuitable type and not safely located, or defective portable conductors.

The safe illumination of display or show cases presents difficulties owing to the necessity of designing fittings that will lend themselves to application in the restricted space available. The fairly high temperatures developed by lamps confined in unventilated cases is also a factor. Where approved show case fittings are used and circuit wires are carried through floors in rigid metal conduit or other approved method, the hazard from fire is reduced to a minimum.

The more common faults encountered by inspectors are: use of unapproved fittings, use of flexible cord as circuit wire, use of receptacles with exposed contact screws, unsafely located switches, and lamps in close proximity to combustible material and unsoldered joints.

The use of temporary electric lighting systems during the Christmas holiday season, in retail stores, in public institutions, and in the home is universal, and the possibility of faulty installations causing fires in inflammable decorations, resulting in loss of life and damage to property, should be considered by all persons installing decorations, says the electrical inspector.

TWO PAY FINES FOR PARKING TOO LONG

Heinemann this morning when they pleaded guilty of parking their cars on College-ave Thursday for more than 90 minutes. They were: Christ Stark, 419 N. State-st., and Carl Sherry, 323 E. Washington-st. Both men were arrested by Officer Edward Ratzman.

POINCARÉ AGAIN NAMED IN TRIAL

Soviet Prosecutor Ignores Judges' Orders in Conspiracy Case

Moscow, (A)—The name of Raymond Poincaré, the French statesman, was shouted again today in the courtroom where eight men are on trial for plotting to overthrow the Soviet government. Before the judges who have ruled out all mention of "friendly foreign powers," Krilenko, the prosecutor, shook his finger in the general direction of Paris and accused the former French premier of working hand in glove with counter revolutionaries.

"If Poincaré wants to know all the details of this plot in which he played such an important part," Krilenko shouted, "I'll let him have those details. I'll let him know that our people are ready for the worst. When the time comes to fight we will fight as one man. We will meet the crisis armed and prepared."

The prosecutor renewed his demand that the eight defendants be put to death, and rehearsed the confessions drawn from Leonid Ramzin, accused as the chief plotter in Russia, concerning acts of sabotage against Soviet industry.

Referring to testimony which involved officers of the French general staff whom the defendants implicated in the plot, Krilenko characterized the French denials as "pure fake."

"We have sufficient proof of their connection with this plot through their agents in Moscow," he said. "The action of the men who plotted with them is sufficient to merit the most severe punishment under our criminal code."

HERE'S SOMETHING I CAN'T TELL MY HUSBAND

HOPE he reads this ad. That's the only way he'll know I'd rather have a Tiffin Model Magic Chef Gas Range than anything else in the world. He thinks all I like are dainty things to wear and would never believe I actually prefer a stove for Christmas. But what a stove!

This Tiffin is the most enchanting thing I've seen for years. It is to the kitchen what a grand piano is to the living room—a real mark of distinction. So compact, so colorful, so unusual, every woman falls in love with it at first sight. And all my friends who have them say they're perfect bakers.

I've always wanted a stove with a Red Wheel Oven Heat Regulator. I'm tired spending hours needlessly fretting in the kitchen. The Tiffin has a Red Wheel and every other modern improvement to make it easy to cook the kind of meals people praise.

Like other women, I prefer a gift I can share with the family, and we'd all enjoy the advantages of this wonderful, new gas range. The price of the Tiffin is almost unbelievable—it's so low. Maybe my husband will surprise me and have one installed. Here's hoping.

COMMERCE BUREAU SUGGESTS LIST OF CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Hope Bulletins Will Cause More Buyers to Purchase Cotton Goods

BY J. C. ROYLE

Copyright 1930, Cons. Press Washington (CPA)—Within the next three weeks the department of commerce is going to find out just how amenable the people of the United States are to suggestion. In other words, it will be shown whether it is possible to lead a horse to water and make him drink.

The move on the part of the department is being greeted with both approval and disapproval on the part of various economists, merchants and businessmen.

The department has issued a list of suggested Christmas gifts which, while extensive, all contain cotton fabrics in some form or another. Manufacturers and dealers in other types of merchandise than those employing cotton do not see why a list of suggested Christmas gifts issued by a government department should be confined to the exploiting of one commodity.

As a foreword to the list of suggestions observes that the joy of receiving is immeasurably increased by the surprise element. It is likely that some officials of the department will be thoroughly surprised to see how some of their suggestions are received.

The list also stresses the perplexity which soles to many carriers of Christmas cheer at this time in selecting appropriate gifts, and asserts that its purpose is to guide Christmas buyers who really need help to combine utility with beauty in their gifts.

It is pointed out that some commodities are so obvious in daily life that the fact that they make appropriate gifts is overlooked. Emphasis is laid on the delight given children especially by the quantity of gifts received, and buyers are urged to purchase various articles which are sure to be bought within the next month or so anyway.

The pamphlet contains an alphabetical list of presents and also classifies them for the individual. The larger list naturally is devoted to the children up to 14 years of age. But an extensive list is given for the young men and women in college and in business, for parents, for the home, and for the entire family. The family auto, if this list is followed, is likely to have hung on it 21 new gadgets ranging from expensive new balloon tires to a towel in a special case.

The idea of a Christmas list is not new. Individual stores have issued and advertised such lists of suggestions for years.

But the publication of such a list by a government department is some what of a new departure and so is the idea of devoting it to products using the state of raw materials. If the plan is as successful as its sponsors hope, it may make radical changes in some kinds of merchandising and in both retail and national advertising.

In the meantime, those who are neither opposed to nor in favor of the idea and to whom it does not apply in a business way may well find some excellent gift suggestions in the list.

REMOVE SCAR TISSUE FROM BURNED FIREMAN

Nick Reider, Jr., a member of the Appleton fire department who was seriously burned in a fire at the Service bakery, W. College-ave, in August, 1929, submitted to an operation Thursday for the removal of some of the scar tissue which resulted from the severe burns. He was burned when a vat of boiling grease, which was being carried from the burning building, overturned and deluged the fireman. Michael Cahlin, an assistant fire chief, was killed in the same accident.

The auction will be conducted on the premises of John Hoen, treasurer of the town of Buchanan. WORLD BANKS BIG FACTOR FOR PEACE

Rome has also begun an encircling movement in central Europe endeavoring to bring to her side some of the republics formed out of the Austrian Hungarian empire. The Fascist movement in Germany naturally feels a kinship with the Fascism of Italy.

The banking world does not look with favor on the development of a new balance of power in central Europe, which may be looked upon as a potential threat to the other powers. Financial relationships between France, Great Britain and the United States are growing closer every day and it would not be a difficult matter if these three nations shut off their funds, to effect a change in the foreign policies of Italy and her new allies. Certainly if Italy is going to help the Russian regime through the advance of funds, the bankers of France, Great Britain and the United States would indirectly be helping to finance the Russian Communism.

It will take some time for the effects of the present conversations and financial affairs to be reflected in a new attitude on the part of Italy, but it can be taken for granted that during the next twelve months renewed efforts are going to be made not only to limit naval armament as between France and Italy but to develop a new era of understanding in Europe. The league of nations has never been looked upon by Mussolini with favor and the league itself is powerless without the help of all the lending countries. A move for world peace through the withdrawal of financial aid is, on the other hand, such an obviously world-wide problem that the United States is in a position to help stabilize Europe without any direct commitments on foreign policy.

The belief prevails that the United States Great Britain and France understand each other on the importance of assuring peace in Europe and momentous developments are expected during the year 1931 which it is hoped will clear the air of war rumors.

DREARY WEATHER ON MENU FOR SATURDAY

The wet and dreary weather of Friday will continue for another 24 hours, the weatherman says in predictions for Friday night and Saturday. Moderate temperatures will prevail and it is not likely that the mercury will drop below the freezing point tonight, he said. Rain will fall here tonight and Saturday. Similar predictions have been predicted throughout the midwest for the next day or two.

A thin sheet of ice covered Appleton and vicinity Friday but there was not sufficient precipitation to cause any damage.

Motorists were handicapped Thursday night and this morning by the sheet of ice but no serious casualties were reported.

Winds are shifting in the east and southeast, a good indication that wet weather is sure to prevail. At 6 o'clock Friday morning the mercury registered 27 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 40 degrees above zero.

PLAN PUBLIC HEARING ON SMOKE ORDINANCE

The funeral of Ferdinand Zeug was held at 1:30 Friday afternoon from the home at 239 E. Atlantic-st. with services at 3 o'clock at St. Paul church. The Rev. T. J. Sauer was in charge of the services, and burial was in the Grand Chute cemetery. Bearers were G. J. Mohr, Albert Voeks, Charles Semore, Andrew Weigh, Ferdinand Brandt, and Herman Roblee.

Indian Tribes Pay Homage To St. Xavier At Mission

Mission San Xavier, Ariz.—(CP)—The weird beat of the tom tom marked a slow rhythmic for the dancing feet of Papago and Yaqui braves today as their ancient tribal ritual neared completion in 60 hours of exaltation of St. Xavier, their patron of a new era.

The writhing dance of the Indians before old Mission San Xavier harkens far into the past, when the Papago and Yaqui were great nations. It now is performed in honor of a padre whose self-sacrifice was idealized by Father Uesbio Kino in bringing a new faith to the aboriginal race.

Only the closing chapters of the Indian folk story remain to be danced in the annual pantomime. They deal with the bringing of the Indian into the Papago world, the creation of which by "the elder brother" and earth-born creatures was depicted yesterday.

WOMAN SUSPECT IN ROBBER GANG WILL STAND TRIAL HERE

Mrs. Lila Johnston Turned Over to Appleton Police

Mrs. Lila Johnston, one of the gang accused of robbing stores in more than a dozen Wisconsin cities during the summer, was turned over to Appleton police Friday morning and will be brought here to stand trial on a charge of concealing and aiding in concealing stolen property.

Two other members of the gang, Mrs. Viola Bandy and Richard Bandy, her brother-in-law, were turned over to Sheboygan police. Jerome Eggert, another member of the group, is awaiting sentence at a Kenosha charge, and G. G. Bandy, and Ray Johnston, are fugitives.

Mrs. Johnston is to be tried on charges preferred by the Fashion Shop, 302 W. College-ave, of which Herbert Goldberg is proprietor.

The Fashion Shop was broken into the night of Oct. 25 and dresses and women's wearing apparel valued at several hundred dollars were stolen. A safe containing checks and cash reported to approximate $700 also was taken, the safe being found on the Spencer-rd and some of the checks in the Fox river at Neenah.

A few weeks later Kenosha police raided a cottage along the lake shore there and found loot valued at more than $20,000. In the loot were the dresses and other wearing apparel taken from the Fashion Shop. Later investigation revealed that the loot stored in the house had been taken from at least a dozen Wisconsin cities.

Several gasoline coupon books bearing numbers of books taken from an Appleton station in August also were found. Efforts were made to find clues which would solve two other Appleton robberies but these failed.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

The condition of Roy Nell, 35, of 798 Eleventh-ave, Wauwatosa, whose skull was fractured in an automobile accident on Highway 26 between Clintonville and Marion Wednesday evening, was much improved Friday morning according to attending physicians. Nell is not yet out of danger, however, but he has an excellent chance to recover. Jack Praubel, 70, Okanabe lake, who was riding with Nell, was killed when Nell's car crashed head on into a machine driven by Miss Doris Perry of Marion. The Nell car turned over to pass a wagon load of poles when the accident happened.

Condition of Mr. and Mrs. George Mavis, 1325 N. Oneida-st, who were injured in an accident on Highway 76 near Greenville Wednesday evening, also was much improved Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Mavis were injured when their car turned over in the ditch after striking Henry Thiel, 65, town of Greenville. Mr. Thiel was killed.

Rome Asked to Settle Quarrel Between Malta Knights and Holy Sepulchre

Rome—(CP)—A dispute between the Order of the Knights of Malta, containing many noted American members and the equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre was carried today to the pope.

Marquis Edward Persichetti-Ugolini, nephew of his holiness and Italian representative of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre, replied through a newspaper advertisement to yesterday's advertisement by the civil tribunal at Rome on behalf of the Knights of Malta warning the public against the order's alleged infringement of the Maltese constitution.

The marquis declared that the charges of the Knights of Malta were unfounded and that they have no power to prevent the Holy Sepulchre order using what titles, names, ritual, etc., they wish.

He said that the Knights of Malta advertisement constituted a most grave offense of the "Order of Malta," which glories in the protection of the Holy See, by attacking an order officially recognized by the papacy.

He decided to submit to the Holy See a complete review of an open quarrel with the Knights of Malta. If the Knights of Malta take further legal steps the marquis, who also is minister of San Domingo to the Holy See, promises a spirited court battle.

ICY PAVEMENTS HAMPER TRAFFIC AND PEDESTRIANS

J. J. Martens, Kaukauna, Injured When Car Skids Off Road

Icy pavements, caused by a light fall of rain which froze on streets and sidewalks as it fell, menaced motorists and pedestrians Thursday afternoon and Friday morning and although there were scores of cars sent into ditches and against curbs there were no serious accidents reported.

J. J. Martens, Kaukauna, was badly bruised and cut when his car skidded on a curve at Potato Point on Highway 41 about 3:15 Thursday afternoon and crashed into a tree after leaving the highway. The car was badly damaged and Mr. Martens was cut when he was thrown against the windshield. He was taken to a doctor's office at Kaukauna where he was treated.

Busses and trains were slightly delayed by the slippery pavements and rails but service was not abandoned on any of the lines.

A Wisconsin Michigan Power company bus skidded at the corner of Superior-st. and College-ave and smashed into one of the traffic signal poles and broke it off. The signal was still operating Friday morning, however, although it was bent almost parallel with the ground.

Scores of cars, which went into ditches when unwary drivers applied their brakes to slow down, were abandoned when it was impossible to get the machines back on the road again. Most of these were taken from the ditches Friday.

Three crews of county patrolmen were ordered out Friday afternoon by Frank Appleton, highway commissioner, to place sand and cinders on dangerous curves, hills and approaches to arterial highways on county, state and federal highways. These crews still were at work Friday morning. Mr. Appleton said and would continue their activities as long as there was need for this precaution. Placing of sand and gravel on slippery places on the highway is being done on recommendation of the state highway commission.

Friday morning, it appeared from reports received at the highway office, that unpaved roads were much slipperier than paved roads. The paved roads were more heavily traveled and with a warm rain falling the thin coating of ice soon deteriorated. However on unpaved roads traffic is much lighter and the warm rain seemed to have no effect on the ice.

Theodore Albrecht, city street commissioner, and a crew of three men played sandman until 3 o'clock this morning, scattering sand and cinders over all streets and sidewalks in the city. This morning the same crew sanded arterial stops and streets missed last night.

Hills were so icy last night that the street department trucks were forced to back up the hills, scattering sand ahead or behind them to gain a foothold. Many cars had to park in vacant lots or along the curb because they were unable to make the hills in the city, and all evening engines raced and brakes squeaked as cars tried to make uphill grades. The street crew saw a number of cars in ditches as they made their nocturnal trip through the town, and at the corner of Walter-ave and John-st a car had crashed into a curb and broken a wheel.

COUNTY'S SUPPLY OF DEER TAGS EXHAUSTED

Outagamie-co hunters who still want to take advantage of the 10-day deer hunting season will be unable to secure a deer tag according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. Outagamie-co has already issued 1,300 tags, 300 more than were issued in 1929. The county's supply is exhausted and Friday morning Mr. Hantschel learned that the state's supply also is gone. Mr. Hantschel said that he has been given permission by the state to issue certificates to hunters, which will take the place of the usual licenses.

ICY SPOTS SHOULD BE SANDED, SAYS LETTER

The use of sand and cinders on icy places on county, state and federal trunk highways is recommended by the state highway commission to prevent accidents. The commission, in a letter to Frank R. Appleton, Outagamie-co highway commissioner, urged that Outagamie-co take some steps to institute a program of covering all hills, dangerous curves and approaches to arterials with sand or cinders so that there will be less danger of accident at these places when ice forms there. The commission points out that some departments are mixing calcium chloride with the sand or gravel because of its quick action on the ice. The commission advises that piles of sand or cinders be placed at all points where it is known that ice menaces traffic and that these spots be covered regularly.

SCORES U. S. POLICY TOWARD RUSS REGIME

New York—(CP)—America's diplomatic policy toward Soviet Russia and Latin-America was criticized last night by John Bassett Moore, former world court judge.

In an address before the bar association he said that our refusal to recognize Russia was in conflict with our approval of that country as a signatory to the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

Taking recent events in Brazil as an example, he said we had "drifted into a fog and lost our bearings" in our attitude toward South American republics.

He ridiculed the danger of Communism in this country and said the nation was proof against it.

CUBA AND THE FLAME

In its present unfavorable economic situation the government of Cuba is planning to borrow some $42,000,000 on a bond issue and loan it to the National Export Sugar Corporation for the purpose of buying a million and a half tons of sugar and withdrawing it from the market in the effort to stabilize prices. Cuban sugar is now selling below the cost of its production.

This is another phase of the plan pursued by Brazil so disastrously in respect to its coffee, but the Cuban government, alive to the blunder of Brazil, states that coincident with the raising of this money it will vest in the Export Corporation practically dictatorial powers in relation to the curtailment of sugar production and the regulation of exports, with the idea that the present condition is temporary and may be cured by withdrawing many acres from sugar crops which will prevent its recurrence. There is no doubt about the honesty of purpose in the Cuban government and that in the respect mentioned its plan differs from that of Brazil, because the latter was merely attempting to artificially and indefinitely raise the price of coffee.

But supposing that the withdrawing of the million and a half tons purchased at the cost of such a large loan fails to secure the desired result? Suppose the world market of sugar is still much too great for world consumption, what then? The Cuban people will be owing $42,000,000 and will own a million and a half tons of sugar without a market for it.

Even with the purpose behind the plan honorable, the conclusion can hardly be avoided that Cuba is starting out upon an extremely dangerous road, and perhaps more dangerous to its future wellbeing if perchance success should crown this particular effort, for when government invasion into private business ventures apparently succeeds, there is usually no stopping its continuance, and carried to its almost invariable conclusion, the consequences are most unhappy.

The Cuban situation is the direct consequence of the war. When Europe, busy with its fighting, quit raising sugar beets and the same condition prevailed elsewhere, the demand on Cuba stimulated the clearing of thousands of acres of fertile land, the construction of many sugar mills and thus the creation of an enormously increased crop. When the rest of the world turned to peaceful pursuits the result was too plain. Even with a preferential tariff giving it fairer entrance into the American market, the sugar bowl is so overloaded that disposition of it cannot be made.

To borrow this money Cuba would most likely have to sell its bonds to the people of this country among whom it has floated other bond issues at relatively low rates of interest. But bond buyers as a class are cautious investors and may look with skeptical eyes at the securities of a country which is risking so great a sum in a doubtful or speculative enterprise and thus perhaps impairing that valuable and indispensable asset of a nation, its credit.

POSTAL RATES

Postmaster-General Walter F. Brown is going to cure that old aggravation, a postal deficit, if he may have his way. The postoffice department in its last fiscal year suffered a deficit of a little over $58,000,000. The postmaster-general reports to the president that if first class mail of a non-local destination pays 2½ cents instead of 2 cents per ounce, it will provide $55,000,000 of the deficit and that a correction and revision of fees for money orders, insured and registered classes of mail, will net sufficient more, without disturbing any other rates, to remove the postoffice department from red ink.

Back of Mr. Brown's recommendation is a line of good reasoning that will be difficult to meet, for we have had a 2 cent rate since 1885 with the exception of a period during the war and that rate, in comparing the purchasing power of money today with 1885, is equivalent to 3½ cents at the present time. The postmaster-general continues with his reasoning: "If there is taken into account the relative wages paid to labor, the 2 cent rate of 1885 is equivalent to 7 cents at the present time."

It is hardly believable that an additional half cent per ounce on first class mail will tend in any way to infringe the rights of the individual or interfere with the open channels of commerce. This being so, and there is no other good reason to support a low rate, the postoffice department should not be run at a deficit. The deficit of course must be paid by general taxation and it is wrong in principle to require general taxpayers to pay for a special service received by some. Moreover, it should be a matter of justifiable pride to have those departments of the government which render a general business service at least self-supporting.

THE STOOL PIGEON

Just for an example of how disgusting police conditions can get in a big city, you are invited to pay a little attention to the current "stool pigeon" disclosures in New York City. The background is this: the vice squad of the New York police department has been doing the bulk of its work through stool pigeons—paid informers, in plain English. These stool pigeons would do a vast deal of snooping, spying and sneaking and would make their reports; the police, on the basis of these reports, would go out and arrest girls named by the informers.

At the beginning, probably, it seemed like a good system. But now it develops that it became a horrible thing. The stool pigeons and the police, eager to make more convictions, were not satisfied with trapping genuine offenders. They took to framing innocent women—railroading them to court and to jail, manufacturing evidence against them, committing perjury by wholesale and thereby fattening their own fees. In the process, of course, they wrecked a number of lives and caused much wholly needless suffering; but that, evidently, did not bother them very much. The stool pigeons were making money, the police were making a fine record for arrests, and everybody was happy.

Now it is all coming out into the open! and New York is properly shocked. Policemen are being suspended, the grand jury is getting ready to act, and it looks as if there will be a new deal. However, in any case of this kind, making a cleanup and sending the guilty to jail is only part of the job. The important thing to do is to realize that the whole sorry mess was a logical outgrowth of the kind of police work that involves too great a reliance on stool pigeons. Such a system inevitably leads to corruption, of the ugliest kind.

There is a place in good police work for the stool pigeon; a small and relatively unimportant place. But in all too many cases a department will rely on the stool pigeon too extensively. It does this because that is the easiest way. Genuine police efficiency is hard to attain. A lazy politician put in charge of a police force won't even try for it. He will use the informer instead.

So the stool pigeon plays a big part in every large American police force; and the result, invariably, is corruption and injustice. That is the way it always has been and that is the way it always will be. The real lesson of this New York business is that the police department that makes the paid informer a basic part of its foundation is going to come to grief.

Today's Anniversary

VAN BUREN'S BIRTH

On Dec. 5, 1782, Martin Van Buren, eighth president of the United States, was born of Dutch ancestry at Kinderhook, N. Y.

After he had passed the bar at the age of 21, Van Buren satisfied an early ambition to enter politics by being elected to the New York Senate as a Democrat. His succeeding offices were attorney general of the state, U. S. senator and governor of New York.

He resigned the governorship to become secretary of state in President Jackson's cabinet, and resigned this post to accept the post of minister to England. The Senate's refusal to confirm his nomination after he had sailed only served to heighten Van Buren's popularity. This, in fact, helped win him the vice presidency in 1832. Four years later he was elected president.

Van Buren's term was made notable by a widespread financial panic resulting partly from certain measures of President Jackson's administration. The chief measure of Van Buren's administration was the establishment of the independent treasury system for the safekeeping and disbursement of the public moneys.

WHAT TO DO WITHOUT TO-DO.

1—WHEN SOME ONE SWALLOWS POISON.

Thru the criminal connivance of the government there are several kinds of poisoning carried on in this country under the name of business. I'll just mention three counts in this indictment of our representative body.

First, the doing to death of one out of each 25,000 citizens per annum with pipeless gas stoves. Municipal and state governments that fail to enact strict ordinances against the sale and use of such deadly appliances are playing the lives of citizens against the favor of interest that profit from the pipeless stove business. Second, the horrible murder of hundreds of children every year by means of candy-like pills or tablets containing deadly poison strychnine municipal and state governments that permit the indiscriminate distribution of "samples" of such deadly drugs in nostrums are sacrificing these innocent victims to keep themselves in the good graces of the interests that profit on such trade. And finally, there are many scores of nostrums on the market for headache, "cold," neuralgia, grippe, fatigue or what have you, nearly all of which depend for their kick on one or another coatlar derivative like acetaminophen but only deadens all sensation but poisons the heart and the blood and in too many cases brings death to the unwary victim; the municipal and state governments permit these poisons to be sold indiscriminately and even under the assurance that the stuff is "safe" or "perfectly harmless."

Suppose a child in your care gets hold of some big business people's nerve tonic tablets and eats a few for the candy or chocolate coating and just then you discover what has happened. Has the child been poisoned? You don't know. Your municipal and state government doesn't know nor care, evidently. Only the respected racketeers who market the stuff know, and try and get any reliable information out of such crooks!

Well, there is but one safe course to follow. You must empty the child's stomach immediately. Very well, but how are you going to accomplish it? Hum, now let's see, you've heard that ipecac is an emetic. Well, never mind that now. Ipecac is an emetic all right, but even if you had some right at hand, it will take maybe a quarter of an hour, maybe five minutes to act after you have administered the dose. That is too long to wait in a case of poisoning or even suspected poisoning.

In the Pocket First Aid Kit (instructions for assembling and using yours for the asking, no clipping, and stamped envelope bearing your address) you will find the right emetic, copper sulphate. One grain of copper sulphate (or two or three grains would be all right) dissolved in a few spoonfuls of water and given to child or adult, is an emetic with almost instantaneous effect. Should the first swallow of this fail to bounce right out after it hits the stomach, repeat it in a minute. But seldom is a second dose necessary.

If you can remember nothing else but this in any case of acute poisoning or suspected poisoning, you are always right in giving the victim this safe and swift emetic.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

use to remove moles from the face and neck? (Mrs. G. B. H.)

Answer:—There are various methods safe for one, if one happens to be a doctor. Nothing is safe for a layman to monkey with.

Let 'Em Whoop 'Outdoors.

Is it safe to allow children with whooping cough to be outdoors this time of year? (Mrs. B. T. P.)

Answer:—A child with whooping cough always does better if allowed to remain out in the open air most of the time. Of course you must keep the patient from contact with non-immune children at play.

Another One Who Understands or Doesn't.

I do not understand just how a growing plant can be beneficial in a bedroom. I have always understood that a plant gives off oxygen only in the daylight and that it gives off nothing but carbon dioxide at night, and therefore it would rather harm a person sleeping. . . . (E. S.)

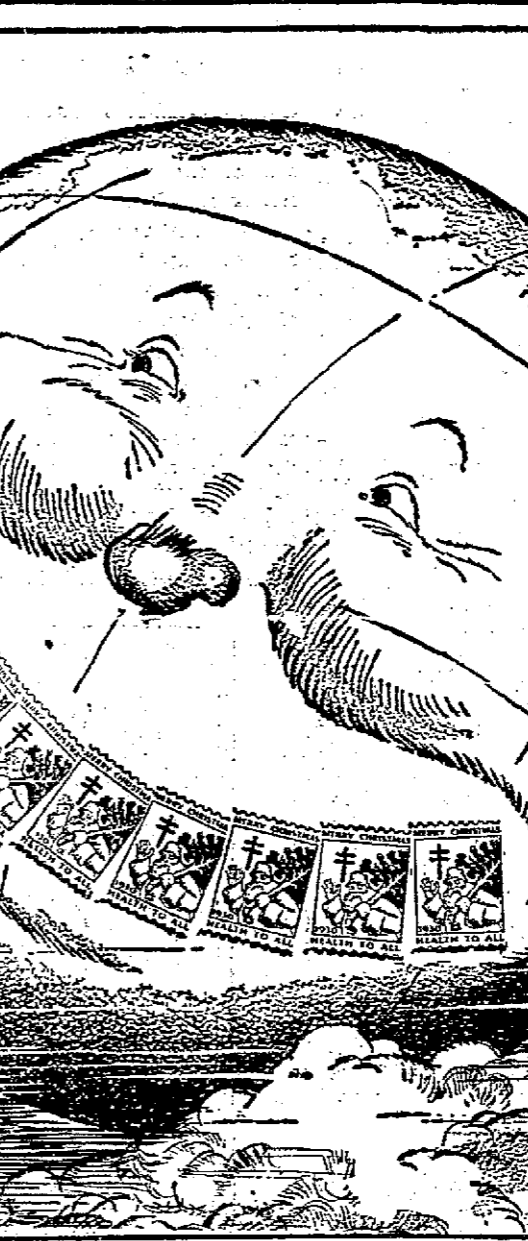

Answer:—The amount of oxygen or carbon dioxide a plant takes in or gives off is of no significance, in respect to the hygienic question. Growing plants in porous pots constantly evaporate moisture in the air and to that extent are healthful in any room at any time, especially in the winter months when the artificial heat dries out the air excessively.

SUNNY SIDE UP!

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—There's one thing on which you can bet with perfect safety about the 72nd congress. The republicans may lose control—that remains to be seen. And John N. Garner may still refer to Nicholas Longworth's "government-provided limousine as "our automobile" as he does now.

But, come what may, this is a foregone conclusion. Garner is going to be in a position to "helgelbite" as he has never been able to "helgelbite" before.

Now, "helgelbite" is a word the democratic leader coined. He defines it in this manner: "to irritate a republican to the point of frenzy" or "to rawhide a republican until he is almost worn out and then rawhide some more."

The rudy-faced, fiery Texan is recognized as one of the foremost "helgelbiters" in the house of representatives. In a rough and tumble debate few on either side of the dividing political aisle can equal him.

READY ANSWERS

Garner in action is nothing short of a whirlwind. Aras fly and words spout from him with machine-gun rapidity. He has a nimble mind. It is rare indeed that he is without a retort that will bring discomfort to a heckler or without a ready answer to questions designed to break up his attack.

He battles every inch of the way and for one purpose—to inject democratic ideas and principles in legislation. He is a practical politician, but nevertheless quick and consistent in his condemnation of false motives.

Modest and frank, he wins friends despite his fire and biting sarcasm in exchanges with colleagues. He is among the most popular men on the hill, with democrats and republicans alike. He and Speaker Longworth have been cronies for years, though to hear Garner on the floor one might not believe so.

UNION FARMER

He is a lawyer by profession, an extensive land owner and banker. Before coming to congress he served in the Texas legislature and as a county judge.

At one time he is said to have owned one of the greatest Angora goat herds in the world. He still owns many fine herds. Lately he has been interested in onion-farming. Reputedly wealthy, Garner is simple in his tastes and democratic in his attitude. He shows a careless disregard for the usual amenities of official life.

After Garner is compelled to resort to strategy when he needs a new suit of clothes to get him into a tailor's shop. When he appeared on the floor recently in a natty brown suit, it was a matter for general comment. Some newspapermen even wrote a story about it.

He plays bridge with close friends. He accepts no invitations to official functions, entertains none himself.

The man came up to them and smiled. Said he, "I'll play for any child. That's how I make my living." Then he started in to play. When finished with a time or two, the Tynies knew just what to do. They handed him some little coins, all more than glad to pay.

(The Tynmites meet some Algerian children in the next story.)

Passengers usually require liquor before going up in an airplane, says a British pilot. It's a little ball, after all, that makes a kickoff and take-off akin.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Street scenes on a rainy afternoon:

The gray haze settling about a darkening city. . . . Shop girls in gay red coats slithering in and out of doorways. . . . Some housewife's soggy washing drooping from a west side tenement fire escape.

The sidewalks, from high up in skyscrapers—swirls of umbrellas. . . . Clerks in offices bent over desks under circles of yellow electric lights. . . . The streets, rubber ribbons reflecting shimmering lamp-light.

Motor cars goin' "quish-quish-quish." . . . Taxis skidding past, full of fares. . . . Tea-room doormen in white rubber coats and helmets holding umbrellas over the coiffured hair of alighting dowagers.

The corner apple sellers shivering over their streaming boxes. . . . One, a woman in a fur coat. . . . A man runs up to post a letter. . . . She holds the small box open for him, so that he won't have to let go of his coat lapels, which he clutches together. . . . He rewards her by buying an apple. . . . Five cents.

A sudden downpour sending to a subway shelter a movie cameraman who has been trying to get a shot of Times square. . . . A swarm of dripping onlookers running after him.

Some push their way into a subway train, jammed at the after-matinee rush hour. . . . Inside they see a clear space and make for it. . . . Then they see why it's clear. . . . The people who ordinarily tread each other's toes and cringe elbows into backs, are standing aside to give a stray dog room.

How the dog got there, they don't know. . . . Presently the dog makes an exit, as though he has reached his station. . . . Then the jam surges into the space he occupied. . . . Soon they'll be home, listening to the radio.

NATURE-LOVER

Subway riders on a certain train the other day were startled to see a man, wearing a sweater and corduroy jacket, suddenly jump out of his seat, grab a pair of straps and perform the boyish feat known as skinning the cat. Then he sat down and resumed his conversation with the man next to him.

The unconventional passenger was Henry Williamson, the English author who is visiting here, and his companion was his publisher.

Williamson is living alone in a humble east side flat, and so sensitive and shy is he that he is keeping the address a secret from most prospective interviewers and others. He is doing some writing there, for which he requires isolation.

His books are not widely read in America, although they have been published here since 1924, when "The Dream of Fair Women" appeared. At home he lives a secluded life in the country, writing nature books between novels.

One of his few intimate friends is T. E. Lawrence (Alfred Lawrence Shaw), the adventurer in Arabia. Williamson says Lawrence is the only man who really understands him.

New York must be a strange place indeed for such a man.

Erratic drivers who have had to listen to a cop's biting invective will probably agree there are plenty of raspberries in the so-called traffic-jam.

What will be regarded as a set-up for the photographers is that an Ohio woman, 75, named Fullilove, recently married a 25-year-old bus driver.

COLLEGE ABANDONS FORENSIC AWARDS

Special Scholarships to Be Made Available in General Fund

The Forensic Scholarship at Lawrence college, amounting to about $1,300 annually, have been discontinued. It was announced in student convocation Wednesday morning.

The amount, instead of being set aside for forensic students only, will be made available to anyone through the general scholarship fund.

Until three years ago the scholarships were given to the winners of a high school speech contest held at Lawrence each spring. However these contests failed to attract the desired calibre of students and so were discontinued and the money awarded to deserving high school students on a basis of scholarship and high school forensic achievement.

"Because there are no special scholarships for athletes it was thought unfair to show discrimination to forensic students," President Wriston explained.

The Brokaw Latin Prizes, amounting to $60 and $40 cash, were awarded to Margaret Carncross and Cathryn Carnes as a result of the Brokaw Latin examinations given recently. The examinations are open to all Latin students at Lawrence.

Whole World Playground For Felix Von Luckner

Count Felix von Luckner, who will speak here Wednesday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel as a guest of Oney Johnston post of the American legion, is a member of a famous military family and a descendant of a marshal of France. The later incident is unusual and therefore interesting because Von Luckner is a German.

Von Luckner ran away to sea as a boy and then served seven years before the mast under an assumed name, as a common jack-tar, suffering beatings, starvation, shipwreck and other hardships that the sea visits upon its children. A part of this time he sailed on American and British ships.

At one time he joined the Salvation Army in Australia, became a kangaroo hunter, prize fighter, wrestler, beach comb and a Mexican soldier, standing on guard before the door of President Diaz's presidential palace. His own family had given him up for dead. His travels included a long journey across America, where he worked as a cowboy, a harvester and even as a porter in New York hotels. His land journeys, of course, were made between his trips on the sea. The call of the sea has ever been his strongest urge.

Then, one day, after he had found his way up from the station of a common seaman to that of an officer of the German navy, he returned to his family. All sorts of exploits brought him naval fame, with the result that he became the protégé of the Kaiser. As an officer aboard the "Crown Prinz," the finest ship in the Imperial navy, he fought the battle of Jutland. Then came the exciting commission to embark with the "Seeadler," his famous raiding cruiser.

The Count is a born actor, a giant of a man, with a rare gift of pantomime, which has been heightened by his life at sea. He is vigorously expressive, full of mimicry and intensely dramatic in the recital of his absorbing adventures before the mast.

One of his big emotional moments came when he was compelled by the stern law of warfare to sink the British ship on which he had first taken out papers as a common sailor. This was the "Pinmore." Count von Luckner came across it in the South Seas laden with salt-peter—from which gunpowder is made. The attachment of a sailor to his first ship is almost as strong as parental love. However, the "Pinmore" had to be sunk.

TESTS PROVE WHEAT IS GOOD FOR LIVESTOCK

Tests made by agricultural colleges during the past few months have definitely established the superiority of wheat over corn as a basic feed for livestock, according to information received by Gus Sell, county agent, from the Farmer's National Grain corporation, which cooperates with the federal farm board. The bulletin received by Mr. Sell points out that recent tests have refuted the old belief that nothing could take the place of corn in producing quality pork and beef. At Purdue university, the bulletin says, three lots of 56 hogs each were used in making tests. The first was fed coarsely ground wheat and tankage, the second shelled corn and tankage and the third shelled corn, ground wheat and tankage. When slaughtered the hogs of the first class were found to be of better quality than those in the other two. The same results were obtained in tests made at the University of Illinois.

A T Corrinne's exclamation that there was someone at the door, Sarah pushed aside the pudding at her plate.

This contact with the outer world had brought her own problems back. She had been drifting with Corrinne, but now she wondered how she could have pushed it all aside so easily and been hungry.

There was the sound of the outer door opening and closing.
"It isn't the front door. It's at the side," Corrinne explained. "It is Harry . . . or the family."

But the maid came to the dining room door with a round gray box in her hands.

"Flowers," Corrinne reached for the package. "From whom, I wonder?"

She opened the box and started to lift layer after layer of a gray-green tissue paper. Then she picked up a white card.

"They're from Harry," she explained. "Oh, how perfectly darling of him! Violets!" She buried her face in the cool purple fragrance and when she looked up again her eyes were soft and bright, and her face was rose-flushed and a little wistful.

"He's trying to tell me that it's all right and he's sorry. It takes an awful lot of patience for a man to be married to me. Will you excuse me a minute while I call his club? I want him to know that it was my fault. I was a regular hoodlum and I shouldn't have entertained the stronger set collectively or individually. I'll be right back."

The spell which had tossed Corrinne and Sarah together because they both had problems was completely gone now. Corrinne no longer needed sympathy.

Sarah arose from the table, letting her eyes linger a second on the purple velvetines of the flowers. Then she went into the hall and picked up her wraps from the large chair where she had tossed them. When Corrinne came from the telephone, she was ready to leave.

"Don't go," Corrinne begged. "Harry can't get here for 15 min-"

PICK OFFICERS OF PYTHIANS FOR NEXT YEAR

Officers were elected by Appleton lodge, No. 113, Knights of Pythias, for the year 1931 at a meeting Thursday night at Castle hall. E. E. Cahall was named chancellor commander, L. M. Schindler was chosen vice chancellor, and De-cald White was elected prelate. Others named to office include Ben C. Shimek, master of work; D. Edwin Wilton, master at arms; Harvey Johnston, inner guard; Herman Heckert, outer guard.

Those who were reelected are Gilbert Trentlage, keeper of records and seal; Armin Scheurle, master of finance; Carl Elias, master of exchequer; and R. O. Schmidt, trustee for three years. Theodore H. Brunke was recommended for deputy grand chancellor. Installation of officers will take place early in January. The lodge meeting will be held next Wednesday night instead of Thursday.

A 6:30 dinner for Knights and their wives was served by Pythian Sisters preceding the meeting Thursday night. Bridge entertained the women after the dinner, prizes being won by Mrs. George Schmidt, Mrs. Theodore H. Brunke, and Mrs. Walter Gmeiner. About 65 people were present.

Sarah had no idea as to what Dr. Burton's reaction had been. But she had an instinctive feeling that in the end he would marry the girl again, although the blind magic that had brought about the first wedding was gone. This second attempt would be much sanner. He would be getting a different girl, although he would not know it.

Sarah coughed and made a great deal of noise so they would know she was coming. Then she fitted her key into the door and turned the knob.

Sarah had no idea as to what Dr. Burton's reaction had been. But she had an instinctive feeling that in the end he would marry the girl again, although the blind magic that had brought about the first wedding was gone. This second attempt would be much sanner. He would be getting a different girl, although he would not know it.

Our Children

THE NEW LESSON
The gym teacher was red in the face and the entire class, spread far apart on the floor in order to have plenty of room for the new exercise, looked worn and anxious. "Look alive there. Keep your knees bent, your back erect. Now then, jump. One, two, three, four. Halt. What in the world is the matter with you? Can't you shoot your arms up and out and forward? Now watch me. One, two, three, four. What's the matter about that? Begin. One—O, for pity's sake! You act like a lot of kindergartners! What's the matter with you?"
Nothing. They were trying so hard they actually shed their buttons at his feet and still he roared them. They did queer things. All the while anxiously watching his face the children stuck arms and legs out at weird angles, lost count, went up when they should have gone down, and no two did the same thing at the one time. Because it was new.
A child wants to do what his teacher says. Only the rare child wishes to do otherwise. The usual child thinks he is doing what the teachers say and cannot understand why the teacher finds fault as he does.
Every new movement, every new act, has a feeling of its own. Until the child's brain cells have registered the right feeling for the motion, until he has stored the correct memory of the way it felt when he did it right, he cannot perform the new action properly. Therefore, whether you are teaching a child a new word, the right way to hold his spoon, the right way to walk or dance or do a stunt, keep patiently showing him how, help him work his muscles the right way by laying your hands on his if necessary. Make certain that he gets the right movement of nerves and muscles and then all he needs is practice. Save your breath and TRACH.
There ought to be a big mirror in every classroom. Two if they can be had. When a child tries a new movement, when he attempts to shape his mouth to form new sounds, tries to assume good posture, tries in any way to adjust his body to new movements, the mirror will tell him how he succeeds without making a personal matter of it. No child resents the mirror's story. But no child can help resenting the aggravated, injured, angry tone of the teacher or parent who is trying to correct him when all the time he FEELS he is doing exactly what he was told to do.
In any new lesson it is best to know that the child wants to learn. Present the new idea with all the power and all the color and dramatics you can put into it. Then let the child try it on. If he fails,

DORNBROOK ROLLS HIGH 693 SERIES

Compiles Individual Games 257, 218 and 218 for Scoring Spree

Menasha—Ed Dornbrook set a dizzy pace in City League bowling last night with a three game counts of 257, 218 and 218. His team, the Menasha Building and Supply squad, swamped the Schlitz Brothers in three games.

George Raleigh also tapped the pins for a total of more than 600 in three games. He scored 209, 220 and 209 for a 638 total. The Shell Oils squad, of which Raleigh is a member, took two out of three games from the Menasha team.

Wassenberg's 256 score gave the Blue Bills a win in one game out of three against the Hotel Menasha squad.

The Clothes Shop aggregation swamped the Ripple grocers in all three games and the Fairbach agency took two out of three from the Wheeler Transfer team. Storli's Five won two out of three games from Anderson's cafe while the Hendy Recreation team took two out of three games from the Banta publishers.

The Gilbert Paper company's team dropped their first two games to Kennedy's Thrifty Five but rallied to win the final tilt. Acker's Nite Hawks won two out of three games from the Schmitzer Red tops.

REARRANGE SCHEDULE AT MEMORIAL BUILDING

Menasha—A change in schedule at the Menasha Memorial building has been announced by Vernon Gruner, park superintendent. Sundays, Wednesdays and Friday nights will be held open for the general public, except when reservations are necessary for some particularly worthy cause. On all other nights the buildings may be reserved by Twin City clubs and associations.

Friday, to the change, Saturday instead of Friday evening was reserved for general public use. Because a number of organizations could meet conveniently only on Saturday night, the rearrangement was made.

HENDY RECREATIONS TO MEET KRONZER ROLLERS

Menasha—The Hendy Recreation No. 2 team will meet the Kronzer Meat Market No. 1 squad in a bowling match on Hendy alleys Sunday afternoon. The tilt will be the second of a home and home series between the two teams and will be started with the Oshkosh squad in possession of a 10 pin lead, established in the first match.

RED CROSS COMMITTEE PLANS MEMBER MEETING

Menasha—The executive committee of the Menasha chapter of Red Cross met in the city offices Thursday afternoon. Plans for the annual membership meeting in the Memorial building after the first of the year and welfare work to be conducted during the holiday season were discussed. Investigations of the welfare of needy families have been started by Miss Edna Robertson, local secretary.

GOOD FELLOWS REQUIRE FUNDS TO HELP NEEDY

Menasha—The Good Fellows, Menasha charity organization, has inaugurated its annual drive for funds by the distribution of contribution boxes throughout the city. About $50 for distribution to needy families during the holidays was received in the boxes last year, but additional funds are needed this year, authorities stated. A number of contributions also have been received from Menasha residents and business institutions.

COMMITTEE WILL FIX 'ORDINANCE WORDING

Menasha—Final agreement on the wording of the modified zoning ordinance will be made at the meeting of the ordinance and printing committee in the city offices Friday evening. Work on the new zoning map has been completed and plans will be made for public hearings to insure final approval of the law.

Hearings on each of the three divisions of the city will be held before final codification of the ordinance, city officials stated. The map shows division into manufacturing, commercial or light manufacturing and residential districts.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—City Reserve association met in the Menasha Memorial building Thursday afternoon. Plans were made for a Christmas party in the Neenah Y. W. C. A. Friday, Dec. 19. A Christmas caroling program is being arranged.

Third Ward Royal Neighbors will be entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. William Bright. Bridge and schafkopf will be played and a luncheon served.

Mystic Workers lodge is planning a Christmas party in Memorial building Dec. 18. An appropriate program is being arranged by committee members and a luncheon will be served.

Auxiliary to the Germania Benevolent society will hold a Christmas party in Menasha auditorium Monday evening. An entertainment program is being planned.

The La-La-Lot club will be entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Ruby Kiefer. Five Hundred will be played and a luncheon served.

Henry J. Lenz post of American Legion met in Eagles' gymnasium Thursday evening. Lunch and refreshments were served. It was decided to give $10 to the Good Fellows fund and $20 to the state legion fund.

COUNCIL WILL VOTE ON BRIDGE REPAIR

Aldermen Expected to Approve Action Voted by Committee of Whole

Menasha—A special meeting of the common council Friday evening has been called by Mayor N. G. Remmel to ratify the action of the committee of the whole relative to the repair of Mill-st bridge. Final action will be given to the project, it is expected.

Plans for beginning the work were discussed at a meeting of the aldermen as a committee of the whole in the city offices Thursday evening. A representative of the Asphalt Construction company of Milwaukee outlined details of the plan.

Removal of the concrete surface on the bridge will be the first step. Substitution of creosoted timbers will eliminate the vibration and unnecessary weight that has made the thoroughfare unsafe for heavy traffic. The Milwaukee company's plan is accompanied by a five year guarantee.

NOTE LITTLE INCREASE IN CITY POOR RELIEF

Menasha—Nation wide depression has had little effect, so far, upon the amount of help necessary to care for needy families in this city, according to city officials. The monthly report of the poor commission shows $295.50 extended during November with $40 charged against Winnebago-co. Although the advent of colder weather has necessitated the purchase of fuel for families in distress, the figures compare favorably with the corresponding month of last year. The 1931 budget, adopted at Tuesday's meeting of the city council, contains a $5,000 appropriation for poor aid during the coming year, an increase of about $1,200 over last year.

STATE GRANGE MEETING GOES TO TWIN CITIES

Menasha—The 1931 state Grange meeting will be held in the twin cities, it was decided at a meeting of Grange officials at Janesville on Thursday. The definite date was not set.

TWO MORE HUNTERS RETURN WITH DEER

Menasha—Two more local deer hunters have returned after successful trips into the northern part of the state. Chick Remick and Charles Gamsky each bagged a buck while hunting near Florence. Remick's deer weighed about 150 pounds. Both animals were shot about five minutes apart.

MORE FOX BREEDERS PROTEST AT RATES

Claim It Costs Them Too Much to Receive Horses for Food

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Now four fox fur breeder's associations, representing fox farms located throughout Wisconsin, have joined the Cedarburg Fox Farms in complaining of high freight rates on horses shipped to them to be slaughtered as food for their foxes.

The Wisconsin Fox and Fur Association of Shawano, the Hargraves Fur Ranches of Watertown, the Association of Fur Farms of New Holstein, all in Wisconsin; and the Hivathia Fur Farms of Hermansville, Mich., are the organizations filing a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

They charge that the present rates on horses for slaughtering shipped from points in Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Colorado, and Michigan to fox farms which they represent are unjustly and unreasonably high, and should be made on the same rate basis as "fat cattle" rates. They complain also that competitors located at Rockford, Ill., receive special commodity rates on horses for immediate slaughter which are as low as cattle rates. Similar charges were made by the Cedarburg Fox Farms on November 17.

In Wisconsin, fox farms and fox fur breeders, represented by these four organizations, are located in Waukesha, Appleton, Athens, Owen, Bayfield, Milwaukee, Tony, Antigo, Stevens Point, Lynxville, Kiel, Mar- kesan, Manitowoc, Two Rivers, Eau Claire, Menasha, and at least 20 other cities and towns.

48 PUPILS NEITHER ABSENT NOR TARDY

Forty-eight pupils of three rural schools have perfect attendance records for November, according to reports sent to the county superintendent of school's office. Following is a list of the students who were neither absent nor tardy.

Rockne's Rough Riders Complete Jaunt To Coast

IRISH TALK ABOUT "TRICK STUFF" BUT S. C. BOASTS POWER

Game to Feature Strong Lines and Many Sensational Ball Carriers

BY BRIAN BELL
LOS ANGELES.—(P)—As Notre Dame's rough, tough team neared Los Angeles today their Saturday opponents, the powerful University of Southern California eleven, ran away. The Californians were in full flight, but not from their adversaries on the football field. They fled from their friends and well wishers.

Long before Coach Knute Rockne led his Indiana stalwarts out of Tucson, Ariz., on the last lap of their long trail, Coach Howard Jones slipped his Trojans out of their stronghold and away to a hotel in an unidentified city. However, the announcement that the final practice of the home team was held on a Pasadena field gave a hint as to the city in which Jones and his men sought sanctuary from the hordes of fans and back slappers.

Whether the Notre Dame wonder team could round out its second successive season without a defeat rested on the lap of the football gods and the mighty men of Troy.

As the Notre Dame players sped toward the battleground, their heads were filled with "trick stuff," Rockne's famous strategy. Southern California is not so crafty, but Coach Jones believes in power with a capital "P."

BATTLE OF GIANTS
With the climax game a full day away the railbirds thought the struggle might develop into a battle of giants employing vastly different tactics. Should the commanders from their conning towers on the bench elect to pit cunning against brawn, the resulting maneuvers may be as interesting as the $8,000 prospective customers expected.

One of the monks of the invaders was Bert Metzger, 154-pound guard, little for a guard but said to be as hard as his coach's nickname. Metzger seems an almost certain choice for all-American honors in spite of his lack of size, his spirit having carried him through the season to steadily increasing fame.

He may need all his courage in tomorrow's game. The opposing guards have to bear the brunt of Jones' most devastating power smashers. One of Rockne's best anecdotes has to do with a Notre Dame player who reported as a candidate for guard and was chided for being "little."

"I'm a little tough, too," was the comeback and "Rock" says the lad spoke the truth. Metzger may be the 1930 edition of that big little man.

MANY "GREAT" BACKS
The field tomorrow afternoon will be cluttered up with great backs, there being no lack of ball carriers and interferers on either team. And the blocking backs of Rockne and Jones will know they have been in a game when it is over. Each distinguished coach believes that a man on the ground will not contribute much to his team's defense and the order is "knock 'em all down."

The spectre of injury haunted each squad. Larry Mullins, South Pasadena boy anxious to show the home folk that he can hold his own with the Trojan band, may be thwarted by hurts from taking his place in the Notre Dame backfield. Ralph Wilcox, Southern California end, may play a while, but will not be up to par as a result of a November injury.

Old man percentage will be playing with the Trojans and Notre Dame's best defensive wizard may be necessary to block him out of the play. The South Benders have won 18 straight games and by the law of averages are due to lose.

Coach Rockne takes no stock in this hazard. The game, he says, will be decided on the field and not in the percentage book, and too, Notre Dame is long over due in the lost column. There has been no disposition on either side to underestimate the strength of the opposition. "Rock" often pessimistic for publication, sees his team up against a very high hurdle at the end of a long race. The "head man" of the Trojans hopes for the best and fears the worst.

WON BY SINGLE POINT
Three of the four games between Notre Dame and Southern California have been won by Notre Dame, each by a single point. This one may be as close either way.

Men who depend for a livelihood on guessing against the judgment of the better paid that the contest will be "even Stephen" with no odds offered on either team. However, the betting was reported light in volume as game time approached.

The game is a sell out but the actual attendance will depend on the weather. If the sun shines a sardine may find it difficult to squeeze in, said experts at the counting house.

DES MOINES, Iowa.—(P)—Kenneth Allen, the big center on the Midwest conference championship football team from Coe college, was the only player who retained his place on the first all-star team of the circuit selected by the Associated Press from a consensus of coaches.

Allen, a 190 pound gridsters playing his fourth and last season for the Kohawks, was the coaches' choice for the pivot post, his closest rival being Don Haloupek, 185 pound center who completed his first season of Midwest conference competition as a member lacked only a few votes of displacing the veteran Allen.

The big Kohawk was also the first team center on the 1929 Associated Press team.

ORANGE GRIDDERS ON VALLEY TEAM

Mortell on First Team, Getschow Placed at Center on Second Squad

Two Appleton high school gridgers were named on the Green Bay Press Gazette's all-Valley team picked a few days ago. Mortell is placed at halfback on the first team while Getschow was given the center post on the second squad.

The choice of boys is the result of their playing against East Green Bay in the last game of the season. Mortell carried the ball very well against the Bays, he passed well with a wet ball and made Bay fans think Lewellen was punting for the Orange.

Getschow's work in the Bay game also was outstanding under the conditions. He handled the ball perfectly and didn't get away a single bad pass with a wet ball. His defensive work in the line also was outstanding in the fact of some terrific line plunging by the Bays.

The teams follow:

CHICAGO LOYOLA DROPS FOOTBALL
Played Fall Schedule Under Lights to Confine Sport to Intra-murals

Chicago.—(P)—Football will be played in Loyola University's concrete stadium next season, but it won't be inter-college football.

President Robert M. Kelley, S. J., last night announced that Loyola had decided to drop inter-collegiate football, because "it is our belief that the interest and appeal of these spectacular football games are getting away from the colleges and universities and are being centered on the public; or, in other words, the colleges and universities are competing with entertainment agencies, rather than serving the chief purpose of athletics which is for physical development of the entire student body."

Loyola, which has an enrollment of 7,000, was one of the first schools in the Midwest to play its entire home schedule under artificial lighting. The post season, while not successful in games won, was Loyola's most successful financially. Football will not be dropped entirely, but will be confined to intramural games.

ORANGE CAGERS TO OPEN SEASON WITH RAPIDS, POINTERS

Only Two Lettermen, Mortell and Priebe, on Shields' Quintet

APPLETON high school basketball team left Friday afternoon for Stevens Point where it will open the basketball season with the Pointers tonight. The team then hopes to play a night game and should return home all ready for opening of the valley season next week.

The invasion of the Wisconsin River Valley gyms will prove a mighty tough bit of work for the Orange. Both the Pointers and the Rapids are reported to have first class aggregations this winter and are picked to defeat the Appleton five primarily because the locals have only two letter men.

Practice for the Orange started a couple weeks ago at the armory. There were about 20 youngsters reporting headed by Mortell and Priebe, lettermen. Aside from that the boys are either sophomores or members of last year's reserve squad.

Coach Joseph Shields has driven his charges hard in early drills. He has taught them fundamentals of the game and various offensive and defensive plays ending up with several scrimmages against the United States of the Y. M. C. A. league, a team composed of former high school stars and a mean cage squad in anybody's league.

Although Coach Shields was not positive Thursday night of the team he was taking to the Point he said it would include Priebe and Rule, forwards; Peotter, center; Mortell and Verrier, guards. Peculiarly enough the two guards are the football co-captains.

The reserve contingent, the group Shields was not sure of, includes Collins, forward; Bowly, forward; Murphy and Bowers, guards; and Slattery, forward.

BIG TEN FACULTY COMMITTEE MEETS
Considers Northwestern's Offer of $100,000 to Help Unemployed

Chicago.—(P)—The late of Northwestern University's offer of $100,000 for charity was before the Big Ten faculty committee on athletic and athletic directors and coaches, a docket of routine business to handle at their annual meeting today.

The two-day meeting promised to be neighborly and with all members present. Iowa, purged of its athletic sins by a year of penance, was back in the fold. There was no indication that discipline awaited any member of the group.

Northwestern's charity offer assumed an important place in the meeting because it promised to provide something more than routine discussion. The faculty committee rejected a proposal to move the recent Notre Dame-Northwestern game to Soldier Field in the interest of charity. Northwestern offered $100,000 for relief of the unemployed if next year's game could be shifted from South Bend to the lake front stadium.

The game will be a home contest for Notre Dame, but Northwestern must obtain permission from the faculty group to play at Soldier Field. If the proposal was rejected, Northwestern probably would be unable to hand over the $100,000.

Consideration of radio broadcasting of football games by advertisers also was on the bill. Several directors were reported to favor prohibiting of games unless the expense is born by the broadcast companies and not by advertisers.

ANTLER FIGHT CARD CHANGED TO TUESDAY
Milwaukee.—(P)—The Antlers fight card, originally scheduled for Saturday night, has been postponed until Tuesday and Mickey O'Neill, Milwaukee, and Harry Dubinsky, Chicago, have been signed for the main event.

George Godfrey and Seal Harris, Negro fighters, and Franklin Cheek and Jackie Stewart, are on the card for five round bouts while Johnny Delfa and Lance Algiers complete the bill with a four round fight.

SOUTHERN CAL PICKED TO BEAT NOTRE DAME
Chicago.—(P)—As far as Chicago bookmakers are concerned, Notre Dame was on the short end of 10 to 8 odds for its game with Southern California at Los Angeles Saturday.

Being a short-end in Chicago betting was something different for Notre Dame, the Irish having been favorites in every battle since the 1928 season.

Four Big League Grid Teams Still Undeclared

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

Copyright 1930

NEW YORK.—(CPA)—Of all the major and important minor college eleven in the country, the undefeated and untied teams may be counted upon the fingers of one hand, thumb excluded. Here is the honor list:

Midwest—Notre Dame.
South—Alabama.
Rocky Mountains—Utah.
West—Washington State.

Of these outfits all have games yet to play, post-season or otherwise. Notre Dame on Saturday will go up against Southern California, a team which gained cumulatively in strength after its close defeat by Washington State early in the season and is now reckoned to be the greatest eleven ever developed in California. There are those who maintain that the 1930 Notre Dame team is the greatest of all combinations that ever represented this university. This the writer is inclined to doubt, while at the same time recognizing the high quality of team. It has scored winning margins in all games but deservingly it falls below certain preceding Irish teams.

This being so, there is ground for the feeling that on Saturday at Los Angeles the South Benders are liable to encounter a team holding a defensive and perhaps an offensive edge, together with a decided physical advantage.

As for Alabama's next game, it comes on New Year's day at Pasadena, Washington State being the opponent. Watching the big powerhouse far western team at Philadelphia last Saturday, it was impossible to escape an impression of invulnerable defensive strength. The team is not only ponderous, but fast in all its defensive maneuvers. Those two tackles, Edwards and especially Ahlskog, were simply engines of destruction in the offensive backfield, and the backfield was very alert, deft and discerning.

On attack there was no attempt at deception and while the writer has not seen this year's Alabama team, he has seen a sufficient number of Tuscaloosa outfits coached by Wallace Wade to picture the eleven very accurately. It will be a tough team against which to score and unless state shows more deception than she did against Villanova she is not likely, it would seem to do much scoring. For Alabama probably will be able to meet sheer power. Whether or not the Dixie team can score is another matter. As to climate, it should be borne in mind that the Pullman team will find the warm weather at Pasadena as debilitating as the Southerners, perhaps more so.

Utah, undefeated in her conference and rated by observers from their sections as qualified to hold its own with the best there is, has a post-season game to play against St. Mary's of Oakland, Calif. St. Mary's, while not the best, is still sufficiently good to give the Utes an enlightening test. The game will tell us a lot about the Rocky Mountain champions.

Four unbeaten teams out of all the college teams in the country! Here is evidence explaining the growing fascination of football, a game wherein no one can tell what will happen from one Saturday to the next. And, incidentally, happy the team which is content to win its due and proper share of contests against natural rivals and has no championships or post-season bee in its bonnet.

WOLVERINES, GOPHERS TO OPEN CAGE SEASON

Chicago.—(P)—Michigan and Minnesota will open the firing in the 1930-31 Big Ten basketball campaign tomorrow night by meeting non-conference opponents on their home floors.

Michigan will start against the Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Mich., while the Gophers tackle South Dakota State.

Three more Big Ten teams start their campaigns Monday night, Northwestern meeting Bradley, Illinois playing De Pauw and Iowa tussling with St. Louis University.

VIKE AUTHORITIES AT LEAGUE MEETS

Midwest and Big Four Officials Plan 1931 Football Schedules

Coach A. C. Denney and Prof. F. W. Chipping of Lawrence college are in Chicago today attending the annual fall meeting of the Wisconsin intercollegiate athletic conference better known as the Big Four, and the Midwest conference. Big Ten conference officials also are meeting in the Windy City today.

The Big Four meeting of course means scheduling of football games with Carroll, Ripon, and Beloit colleges and probably will involve a discussion of a home and home schedule each with these teams. The plan was proposed a couple weeks ago but failed to meet with much approval. It would mean Lawrence would play games here and there with the schools in the conference in lieu of the usual practice games with universities and smaller colleges.

Whether the state intercollegiate tennis tournament will be a one or two day affair also will be discussed by the Big Four officers. In the past one day has been devoted to the event and it has been found that the strain on players is too great and the time period not long enough. Last spring the doubles events were held one day together with part of the singles. Then the matches were called because of darkness and played a week later.

Nothing of great importance is booked for the Midwest meeting, Coach Denney said.

Indications now are that the Vikes will play football games with Marquette university, Ripon, Carroll, Beloit and Carleton, the latter game depending upon an agreeable date. The others are annual affairs already contracted for.

HARD TO TACKLE
John (Mink) Campbell, Alabama's spinning quarterback, is said by Dixie sports writers to be the lowest running back ever seen in the Southern Conference. Campbell never straightens up when carrying the ball, not even when he has broken into the open.

HOW'D HE GET THAT WAY?
Yessiree! Jim certainly does look good nowadays! And all because he's having his clothes tailored to measure. You wouldn't believe clothes could improve a man's looks the way they have Jim's. He's working better, too; told me just the other day that he'd gotten another raise. Made them sit up and take notice, I guess. Clothes will do that—when they're right! Come in sometime and let us show you what it means to be confident of your appearance—what it means to dress better!

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

THE Yarmy 'n' Navy athletic relations are on the mend, apparently. The forthcoming charity game is looked on as a stitch in the wound.

'Twas in the year 1894 when the first break came, and then by the order of President Cleveland. Why? Because some fiery old gold strikers almost got into duels after the game.

Think of it! Duels. Howzat for color? The world was a gaudier place then. Yellowed old newspaper clippings on file at Annapolis tell how the two academies hated before the turn of the century and how diplomatically the president separated the service boys.

But the Spanish trouble apparently made war fashionable again for a grid game was scheduled in 1899. The teams kept right on playing every year until 1909, when the death of a West Point player in a game with Harvard caused the engagement with the Middies to be canceled.

Except for the suspension of football activities in the war years of 1917 and 1918, the five years' hiatus from '94 to '98 inclusive, and the canceled game in 1909, the two service schools have entertained each other on the gridiron famously since 1890, when this famous football series was inaugurated.

In 1893, the records show that the heads of West Point complained that the Midshipmen were awful rough out there, but nothing except the usual after-the-game battles and challenges to pistols at 20 paces among the grads came of it until the following year. Then Cleveland ordered the boys to cool off for a spell.

The way the president worked it was like this: he simply stated that neither team was to play a football game off its home grounds. In this way, he was assured of several hundred miles of distance between the teams.

After five years in the cooling-off process, they came together in 1899 in Philadelphia—the city, 'tis said, of Brotherly Love. Everything was lovely, nobody dueling, and there were few ruckuses after the games. Six contests in a row were held in Philly.

The 1895 game was played at Princeton. President Roosevelt attended. There was such a long muddy tramp to the playing field that nobody ever went back. New Jersey mud is the reason, they say, why Princeton to this day has no football players. And the future generals and admirals went back to the city of Brotherly Love for their games until 1913, when New York City first witnessed the classic.

The games have sea-sawed between New York and Philadelphia ever since, except in '24, when it was played in Baltimore, and in '26, when 100,000 persons saw the 21-21 tie in Chicago.

Ken Laird, Paul Fischl and Bill Bickel of the Viking grid squad were placed on the Midwest all conference teams, the first two getting on the first selection, the latter on the second.

Laird's choice is a great tribute to the "Goose" for he played in only a couple games this season and then performed while laboring under the strain of a jaw bone that was healing after a bad break. Had he been able to take part in all the games he no doubt would have been a sensation.

Fischl's choice also is a credit for he performed behind a line that permitted him only occasional long jaunt.

Bickel's choice for a tackle on the second team is one of "those things" especially when one notices Warner, Cornell right tackle, drew a first division berth. Bickel played all kinds of geometric figures around Warner when Cornell played here.

Frankie, too, should have gotten some mention on the second team. He performed in rare style at halfback and was the big star in both the Carleton and Cornell games.

London, England—Dave Shadle, California, and Jack Hood, British middleweight champion, drew 12).

Yessiree! Jim certainly does look good nowadays! And all because he's having his clothes tailored to measure. You wouldn't believe clothes could improve a man's looks the way they have Jim's. MAJORS, MINORS IN DEFINITE MOVE TO SETTLE PROBLEMS

Pass Rule Which Will Prohibit Players from Wrestling, Boxing

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MONTREAL (AP)—A definite move toward peace between the major leagues and the minors appeared imminent today as the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues entered upon its closing stages.

Close observers of the bitter fight over the first question between the two groups expected the next chapter in the controversy would be written at New York next week at the joint major league meeting. That it would be a step in the direction of peace seemed clear enough here although no one was willing to say on what basis a possible compromise might be reached.

The first indication that the situation had completely changed and left the rival factions in a position to get together with a view towards a permanent settlement of the dispute came when the three class AA leagues, the International and Pacific Coast and American Association, announced the appointment of a standing committee of nine, three from each league, empowered to act at any time the National and American leagues should wish to discuss the draft.

This action, coming less than 24 hours after what appeared a wide open split between the two groups, was of particular significance. No representative of the minor league group was willing to say what had led to the appointment of the committee but it was widely observed that some major league club owners had indicated that they were opposed to a war with the minors and that there seemed to be no reason why a compromise should not be reached.

The minors' action left them fully prepared to enter into any negotiations that may be desired by the majors. It was emphasized, however, that the first move would have to come from the majors. The AA leagues believe they did their share in bringing about a possible settlement when they offered to reopen negotiations provided the majors reconsidered their decision to discontinue all business relations with the non-draft circuits as of Dec. 1. This proposal brought replies from Presidents Heydler and Barnard of the National and American leagues that there was no chance of the majors backing down.

The consensus was that several of the major owners, here to attend the minor league convention, had pointed out that a war between the two groups might develop into a costly struggle that would wreck the game. They were believed to have told the minors that however far apart the two groups might appear to be, there was no reason why some compromise, agreeable to both, might not be reached.

Several amendments were made to the major-minor rules, the most important in a players' contract of a clause forbidding him to participate in professional boxing or professional wrestling.

OPTIMISM NEEDED TO HALT SLUMP, VAN DOREN HOLDS

Railroad Official Criticizes Activities of Farm Board

New London — Pointing out the extreme need of optimism in the industrial and financial crisis in the county R. M. Van Doren, vice president and counsel of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and a former resident of this city, addressed Rotarians and Lions at a joint luncheon at Elwood hotel yesterday. Later he spoke at a meeting of local residents and farmers. The event was sponsored by the Lions club.

He criticized the activities of the Federal Farm board and the grain stabilization corporation, saying that it is a difficult task to avoid the operation of the law of supply and demand. Innocent and commendable as the policy put forth by the corporation may be, it is one which should be watched carefully he warned. It is one that is to be condemned or to be accepted without proof.

He said that already that agency has absorbed 110 million bushels of wheat out of a possible 840 million bushels produced in 1930 and a 225 million bushel carry over from last year. He pointed out the experience of other countries, namely the coffee market, and the subsequent results to coffee prices after years of fluctuations.

"The same holds true in regard to England's attempt to control rubber prices, silk and camphor in Japan, sugar in Cuba, nitrates in Chile, currants in Greece and sulphur in Italy," he said. "None of these countries has succeeded in their efforts in maintaining price levels much above the current prices fixed by the law of supply and demand."

He pointed out the difficulties of accomplishing what is advocated by Chairman Legge of the farm board, who urges wheat farmers to feed wheat to livestock and reduce wheat acreage.

"The speaker seemed critical of the conflict in governmental policies, with the federal farm board urging decreased production while another department engages in an elaborate program of reclaiming arid land for agricultural purposes. This inconsistency, Mr. Van Doren asserted is parallel to the activity of the farm board in extending credit to the grape juice growers of California while another department spends millions running down bootleggers."

He called attention to the fact that taxes have increased more than 400 per cent from 1913 to 1928, saying that the greatest factor in this increase is in local taxes. This increasing burden of taxes, the speaker concluded, is a charge upon business which is exacting its toll in reduced net earnings and in retarding and deterring effects upon expansion and enterprise.

In the address given during the luncheon hour Attorney Van Doren chose as his topic, My Business, Your Business and Our Business. The first subject related to how the attitude of subject related to how the attitude of large and small concerns toward the public had changed. From a public be-damned spirit this attitude has changed, he said, to the tacitly understood stand that the customer is always right. The public is no longer regarded as being glibly. It expects full value for the money it spends. The lesson taught to business by this change in policy has been accomplished through better management and stricter economies.

Speaking on My Business, various problems confronting the railroads were brought out. Mr. Van Doren stated his belief that if railroad rates earnings and methods of operation were to be regulated by the government that competing bus and truck lines should face the same supervision.

He stated that the government, in the operation of the barge boat system on the Mississippi, was directly penalizing the land carriers for losses the waterway system would entail. Questions between employer and employee would be hereafter arbitrated and the compromise could in all cases be the solution.

Employers, he said, should regard those first of all the interests of those working for them and workers, in turn would regard the interests of the industries employing them.

About 70 attended the luncheon at Elwood hotel. The speaker was introduced by Giles H. Putnam, Rev. H. P. Freeston, Antigo, former pastor of the Congregational church and a party were present.

ELDERLY MAN INJURED AS CAR GOES OFF ROAD

New London—Thomas Durkee, 73, of Neshkora, was injured shortly after noon Thursday when the car he was driving left the road, crashed into the ditch and turned over. The aged man was badly cut about the head and face and fractured his left arm. Durkee was following a car driven by his son. LIONS FIND JOBS FOR UNEMPLOYED

Persons Offering Work Are Asked to Call F. W. Bauer, President

Weyauwega—The unemployment situation in the Weyauwega was taken up at the Lions club meeting at the Hotel Marilyn Monday evening. Persons in need of employment may inform the president of the club, F. W. Bauer, and each Lion has agreed to furnish a minimum of one day's work and as much more as possible. Anyone with work to do, if only for an hour, is asked to inform Mr. Bauer, so the situation may be alleviated to some extent.

A committee composed of A. C. Ewald, R. A. Hutchinson and George W. Moody was appointed to aid Mr. Bauer in this work. The plan was suggested by George W. Moody.

The E. R. A. lodge enjoyed an oyster supper and program at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson, Monday evening.

Cold weather and frost have halted the laying of water mains and sewers and the remainder of the work planned for this fall will be postponed until spring. The work on the lower will continue, however, until completed.

Digging for the water mains and sewer became difficult when the ground became frozen 20 inches down.

The project will be resumed in the spring as soon as the weather will permit.

The Rev. W. W. Sloan, director of religious education of the First Congregational church of Appleton, will speak to the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations at the Presbyterian church, at 745 Sunday evening. Mr. Sloan will tell of his trip to the orient.

Grant Mason has sold his interest in the former Mason-Peterson garage and O. C. Woodard has become owner of the entire business.

Mr. Woodard will have the building remodeled and Mrs. Woodard will open a coffee shop in part of the building. Mr. and Mrs. Woodard took possession on Tuesday.

The Weyauwega Womens club met in the public library for their regular meeting, Tuesday evening with Mrs. George Haire as leader of the program. The subject was homecraft and the roll call was responded to by suggestions for Xmas.

Albino Grant of Wautoma has purchased the John Peterson farm on the Town Line road.

The high school honor roll for the second six weeks of school includes Frederick Olson, Whitefield Blair, Victor Klesow, Glenn Shreve, Roy Rapp, Walter Wuzbach, Wilma Ballard, Sarah Rehling, Neva Redman, Janet LaBude, Neida Harden and Rose Cohen.

PLUMBER DISCOVERS INJURED WOMAN IN BASEMENT OF HOUSE

Aged Waupaca Resident Found in Vacant Home by Fred Dahm

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Waupaca—Chance discovery by a plumber who had come to turn off the water meter in the vacant Penney home here, probably saved the life of Mrs. R. N. Roberts, 80, Maun-st, who today is resting in Christopherson hospital with serious injuries received when she fell down a cellar steps.

Mrs. Roberts was found unconscious on the basement floor of the empty house by Fred Dahm, plumber. She suffered a fracture of the forehead and a deep cut on the chin.

The aged woman had gone to the Penney house, three doors from her own home, to bid adieu to Mrs. Rose Pugh and Mrs. Etta Townsend, who had been occupying the residence Mrs. Pugh and Mrs. Townsend were leaving for Kenosha where they will spend the winter months.

After leaving the house via the front door the aged woman remembered that she had another message for the two women before they left. Instead of going to the front door, she entered the house by a side door and by mistake opened the door to the basement.

She fell headlong down the steps, striking her head on the concrete floor. She was found by the plumber some time later.

KEEP SIDEWALKS CLEANED OF SNOW, RESIDENTS URGED

City Ordinance Provides

So

Kaukauna—Residents are warned by the street commissioners to keep their walks cleaned of snow this winter. Snow must be cleaned from walks by 10 o'clock in the morning after a snowfall. An ordinance passed by the city council two years ago provides that this must be done, and that offenders will be punished. If walks are not cleaned by the residents, city workmen will shovel the snow, and the expense will be assessed against the residents or property owners. The ordinance reads: section 1: Every person shall by 10 o'clock every morning remove all snow, ice, dirt, rubbish or refuse in front of premises owned or occupied by him, provided that when ice is formed on any sidewalk so that it cannot be removed, then persons owning or occupying such premises shall keep same sprinkled with ashes or sand and in case of failure to do so shall be subject to punishment, on conviction thereof, by fine of one dollar and cost of prosecution for each and every day that same shall not be removed or shall remain without being sprinkled with ashes or sand contrary to the provisions of this section, and in all cases where the owner or occupant of such premises shall fail to remove such snow, ice, dirt, rubbish or refuse, or to sprinkle with ashes or sand as herein provided, for the said work shall be done by authority and under direction of street commissioner and expense thereof made a special tax on the lot in front of which work is done and collected as other taxes as a lien on the real estate.

MEN SECURE WORK ON ATHLETIC FIELD

Crew Breaks Up Rocks and Hauls Them to Northwest Section of Lot

Kaukauna—Many Kaukauna men are being given employment by the city unemployment committee on the high school athletic field, which is being leveled. About 20 men are at work there now. These men work for a time and then are laid off while others are given employment. In this way it is possible to put more men to work.

The large rocks on the southeast end of the field, where the land is high, are broken up and hauled to the northwest end to fill up the low land. This is being covered by dirt hauled from the side hill on Dodge st. The field is rapidly taking shape and work can be continued until snow prevents it.

Work on the completion of the athletic field in order to give local men employment was suggested to the city council by Alderman Bert Roberts. The city utility department offered assistance and the work was started under the direction of the city employment committee, headed by Alderman Walter Cooper. The committee will meet Friday evening to continue work of relieving the unemployment situation in the city.

RELAXATION HELPS TO PREVENT BLINDNESS

Madison—(AP)—Proper relaxation, coupled with the use of science's achievements, is a factor in preventing blindness, the state board of health said today.

There were 2,384 blind persons in Wisconsin in 1929. Many of them became blind because their eyes were not treated with silver nitrate at birth but many suffered blindness from a variety of causes, the board said.

"The strain of reading has been supplemented by the strain of driving cars and both pursuits are capable of impairing vision when the proper relaxation is neglected," the board said.

"Precautions against industrial accidents, saner fourths and advancement in professional treatment of eye disorders are powerful forces in the prevention of blindness. These concerted steps depend in the final analysis upon the individuals care of his eyes."

CAN'T CUT CHRISTMAS TREES ON STATE LAND

Madison—(AP)—Thousands of Christmas trees will be saved from the woodman's axe in Wisconsin this year through an order prohibiting cutting on state-owned lands, the conservation commission said today.

The commission's field men, including wardens and forest rangers, have been supplied with maps showing the boundaries of state lands and are instructed to arrest anyone chopping trees on these lands.

Private land owners were urged by the commission to use the new trespass law to prevent pilfering of small trees. The commission said it had no desire to interfere with legitimate Christmas tree business but announced that "the vicious stealing of state trees must stop."

SILVER BALLS USED TO DECORATE HATS

Paris Models Are Mere
Folds of Velvet Setting Far
Back on Head

BY AILEEN LAMONT

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—Five little silver balls, placed along the top of the crown, pretend to have something to do with holding in shape a hat by Jane Blanchot of Paris. The hat itself is a mere wide fold of black velvet, set so far back from the forehead that its top is at the crown of the head. Another little silver ball pretends to hold it in shape in front.

In London, the bride is wearing a gown which in front sweeps her toes, in back trails voluminously. The gown has a very modest V-neck with long sleeves. The tiny, compact bouquet has generally been regarded for a rather large sheaf of flowers carried on the left arm. Veils are enormous clouds of lace or tulle. Those seed pearl bits of jewelry once again in vogue have found their way into ornaments for evening shoes. A seed pearl butterfly perches daintily on a black moire pump and a small half moon of seed pearls is seen in white brocade. Large, walloping pearls, in clusters of twos or threes, march across the vamp of other slippers, the pearls in these slantwise buckles often tinted to correspond with the footwear.

COOPERATIVE SCHOOL PLAN IS SUGGESTED

Madison—(AP)—Suggestions of a statewide cooperative plan for Wisconsin schools with the visual instruction bureau of the University of Wisconsin as the central state center to get slides to illustrate class work was made here Thursday by J. E. Hansen, chief of the visual instruction bureau of the extension division in a radio address.

Mr. Hansen said he presented his plan because it would do away with the costly and haphazard methods in acquiring films and slides for school use.

He said in some cases, of course, it would be valuable for individual schools to build their own slide and motion picture library.

The speaker forecast that radio, sound motion pictures, and television would in time play an important part in education.

RESINOL HEALS BABY'S RASH

Doctor Recommended It

"A friend recommended Resinol for a rash which covered my baby's body. I thought that I had better take her to the doctor, however. After examining her the doctor looked up and said, 'Have you tried Resinol?' I hadn't so he said, 'Try it. I think you will find it is just what you need.' I did. Result—my baby is entirely free from skin trouble, rash, or any eruption of any kind. I always keep a jar of Resinol on my baby tray." (Signed)

COLLEGE FROSH
OFFER PLAYS AT LITTLE THEATRE

Three One-act Productions
Presented by Students
This Week

Freshmen at Lawrence college presented three one-act plays in the Little Theatre Wednesday evening. The plays, part of a new program inaugurated by Dr. Theodore Cloak, Lawrence college dramatic director, were planned to give Lawrence students dramatic experience outside the regular all-college productions. These plays enable the freshmen to receive dramatic training and experience which they would be unable to get under the old system. The plays were coached by experienced members of Sunset Players, Lawrence college dramatic organization.

Members of the cast of "Young America," the first play, were John Reeve and Betty Meyer, Appleton, Irving Peters, Howard Anderson and Ruel Gie. Mr. Doray, played by John Reeve, finds two boys stealing his chickens and manages to capture one of them. He is trying to have the boy committed to a reform school and Mrs. Doray, played by Miss Meyer, tries to persuade her husband to adopt the boy to save him from the school. Mr. Doray refuses and the boy is about to be committed when his dog comes in. Out of pity for the boy the kind hearted judge commits the dog to the school too, and Mr. Doray, a lover of animals, says it is unfair to imprison the dog for the boy's crime. His pity for the dog makes him sympathize with the boy, and he and Mrs. Doray legally adopt him as their son, saving him from the institution. The play was written by Fred Ballard and Pearl Franklin and was directed by John Chinkosky.

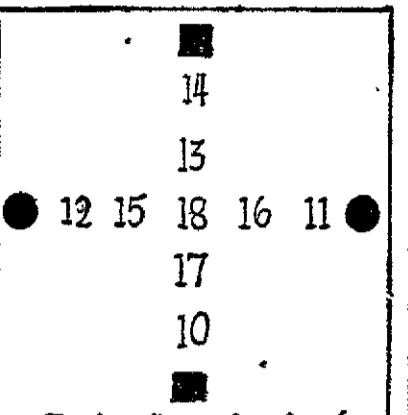

IS WAR STORY
The second play, "Dark of the Dawn," written by Beulah Marie Dix and directed by Margaret Heckle, takes place in the headquarters of Basil Tollocho, a general in the Thirty Year's War. General Tollocho is played by Roland Beyer. General Tollocho has received news that the son of his enemy, Count Gerhard Von Mandersberg, played by Albert takes pity and promises him protection because he is so young, thinking all the while that he is the son of his enemy. Von Mandersberg comes in for a conference concerning a treaty and Tollocho taunts him about his son. The Count tells him that it is Tollocho's own unknown son who is imprisoned and just then a guard comes in to inform the general that a spy known as Duquai has been hung. Von Mandersberg recognizes the name of his own son and so Tollocho's revenge is complete.

The last play, "Suppressed Desires" written by Susan Gaspell and G. C. Cook and directed by Carmen Negrescu, was a modern comedy based on the humorous side of dream psychology. A young architect is driven nearly mad by the inferences drawn by his psychology-mad wife about every trivial thing he does. His sister-in-law comes for a visit and together they "frame" the wife to show her the foolishness of her husband.

by. They pretend that Steven, the husband, has had a dream interpreting and is told to leave his wife. His wife claims then dream-reading is pure foolishness and resolves to drop the whole idea completely those restoring peace to the family. Kathleen Stewart plays the wife. Carl Senue the husband, and Dorothy Edwards portrays the sister-in-law.

REIMER HEAD OF
EQUITY SOCIETY

Officers Re-elected at Annual Meeting This Week at Greenville

BY W. F. WINSEY
Greenville—At the annual meeting of the Outagamie organization of the American Society of Equity in Probst Hall, on Wednesday, Frank Reimer was elected president; Edward Thompson, vice president; Herman Gagnow, secretary; William Maarsch, treasurer; and Fred Blohm, director. Fred Blohm also was elected as a delegate to the Equity Livestock Sales' association meeting at Milwaukee in January. At the state convention of the American Society of Equity in Madison some time ago, the Outagamie local was represented by Edward Thompson.

Mr. Thompson reported on the convention. Representatives of the Nichols local of the Pure Milk Products Cooperative reported on the rapid growth of the cooperative among the patrons of the Nichols' milk plant, and outlined the purpose of the cooperative. Gus Sell, county agent, talked on farm conditions and said that he did not expect much improvement for some time. The county agent recommended the testing of cows as one means of lowering the costs of milk production on the farms.

All of the delegates took part in a discussion of the truck methods of shipping livestock to central markets as compared with shipping through farmers' cooperative livestock associations. It was brought out in the arguments that if farmers resort to shipping by truck they will injure or break up their own shipping organizations as freight cars cannot be filled on regular dates as in the past. The truck does not deliver livestock to the Equity Sales' association, and farmers who so ship have no check on weights, shrinkage, and grades of livestock.

IRVING ZUELKE

DAGGER

by Mary Dahlberg

SYNOPSIS: Dagger Marley, 16-year-old niece of a Texas ranchman, loves Blaine Howard, American adventurer who rescues her from some Mexican insurgents, but he is killed on the Western Front in France. Then she marries Captain John Vanering, dashing young ace, but he dies in an airplane accident. She cherishes most the memory of Howard, however. The Duc de Pontoise, French nobleman, falls in love with her in Paris, but she rejects his affection. Dagger decides to travel around the world visiting three friends of Howard to whom he himself once made a pilgrimage in search of an answer to the riddle of Arab chieftain, in Africa, who advises her that one should do what he thinks right. Next she goes to India and gains audience with Ghulam Buk, Buddhist holy man, the second of Howard's friends, in a monastery ordinarily closed to women.

Chapter 81

"THERE IS NO DEATH"

As the door swung to behind her, Dagger caught her breath and snatched a quick survey of the high-roofed chamber—seeking the owner of that silvery voice.

In the farthest corner, a small heap of rugs and garments crowned a low divan. From this heap the voice spoke again:

"You are welcome, my daughter."

Dagger was startled. It was almost incredible that life could exist in that shaggy mass, but, peering closer, she perceived a pair of bright, friendly eyes and a small, wizened face.

"Are—are you Ghulam Buk?" she asked.

"Yes. Will you sit?"

A hand that was no more than a claw motioned toward a stool by the divan, and obeying the implied command, she was conscious of a sensation of bewilderment that any creature could give such an impression of extreme age. The man on the divan was shrunken to the dimensions of a child; his very features were in miniature. Perhaps some of her bewilderment was mirrored in her face, for Ghulam Buk chuckled dryly.

"You, my daughter, who have just bided into youth, marvel that so ancient a body as this should retain the spark of vitality. Let me call to your attention the saying of Lao Tze. The vase molded out of clay would be useless but for the empty space left for its contents, this shows that however beneficial the material may be to us, without the immaterial it would be useless. My vase, you see, still fulfills a purpose."

Greatly daring, Dagger let her eye meet his.

"I do not know its purpose," she answered, "but to me you seem to give peace."

"If I read your note correctly—" he fingered the envelope she had sent him—"you craved wisdom, not peace."

"Aren't they the same?"

"Yes—and no, child. There is the wisdom of destruction—and in that

"Then I do no wrong if I continue to seek after him, if I follow the Way he trod?" Dagger questioned eagerly.

"Wrong! My daughter, you justify him and yourself. In seeking lies happiness."

The bell-like quality of the distant voice fascinated her.

"But he surely is gone from me?"

His eyes blazed so that his ancient face was lit up by the flame of his conviction.

"No one is dead, who has sought the Right, who has forgot himself in the Oneness of all. Seek on, my daughter. At the end of seeking lies wisdom, and he who has found the wisdom of rightness has found peace."

Dagger was touched by awe.

"You have found peace—father?" she asked.

His smile acknowledged the title she had given him.

"I have found peace," he assented. "But the seeking was not easy, so be not discouraged if the Way proves stony." (Copyright, 1930, Duffield and Co.)

Into the domains of China's most powerful war lord Dagger goes tomorrow, and strange adventures await her there.

LOVING CUP GIVEN TO VETERAN RACER

Heat in Presentation Chamber Prevents Sir Thomas from Reading Speech

New York—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton was presented a cup for his sportsmanship Thursday. But in the middle of his address accepting it he was overcome by the heat in the presentation chamber at city hall and swayed into his chair without finishing.

"Unfortunately," he apologized as he was assisted to his seat. "I can't read as well as I used to." The rest of his address was read for him.

The "cup of good will," for which thousands of Americans subscribed so he might have a token of America's good will in lieu of the American yachting cup, which he has tried so vainly to win with his Shamrock vessels, was presented in the aldermanic chamber at city hall by Mayor Walker, who with the humorist Will Rogers arranged the public subscription for the cup.

Sir Thomas began his speech of acceptance by saying, "I have never had a higher honor paid me in the whole of my life than that which has been bestowed on me by the people of America in the form of this most magnificent loving cup."

"For many years I have felt that I would be the proudest man in the world if only I could lift the 'America's cup,' and now the effect of your most wonderful kindness to me is that, although I have lost, you make me feel as if I had won. In short you have turned a loser into a winner in a most remarkable way."

Will Rogers, who was unable to be present, said in a telegram to Sir Thomas, "You think this is a fine cup. Say, this is nothing to the one we are going to give you when you lose the next time."

LACK OF PATIENCE, CERTAINTY BLAMED FOR MART SETBACK

Trading Quickens at Opening but Trading Dwindles to Vanishing Point

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York (AP)—Stocks closed steadily today, recovering in the last hour a major part of extreme early losses of one to six points. Industrial led the rally, with steel shares prominent. Ralls generally remained heavy, although Atchafalpa regained a 2-point decline. American Can, Westinghouse and U. S. Steel, which had been down a couple of points, closed virtually unchanged. Sales approximated 1,600,000 shares.

New York (AP)—The underlining influence of impatience and uncertainty, caused another gentle setting of share prices in today's stock market.

Trading quickened a little, and the creeping sag of the past two days gained momentum for a time, but around midday, the market seemed to strike hardpan, and after a momentary upturn, trading dwindled off close to the vanishing point.

Bulls were again the conspicuously heavy group. New York Central, Chicago and Northwestern, Frisco, Southern, Lackawanna, and Nickel Plate sold off 1 to 3 points to new lows for recent years. A few specialties broke rather widely. Firestone preferred, Eastman Kodak, and Coca Cola sold off about 5 to 6 points. Shares losing about 2 points included U. S. Steel, North American, American Power and Light, Air Reduction, Dry Goods, and a point or so embraced more than a score of prominent shares.

Bears, growing restive, put out a few feelers here and there, and are apparently anxious to test the bottom levels reached Nov. 10, although the lack of extensive liquidation, and the way pivotal stocks have been taken on small declines, has offered them scant encouragement.

Wall Street was inclined to make something of a mystery of the recent conferences of prominent leaders in finance on both sides of the Atlantic. Governors of the Federal Reserve Bank, and the New York Federal Reserve bank, and Owen D. Young, recently returned from abroad, met with Eugene Meyer newly appointed governor of the reserve board in Washington, at the reserve bank yesterday. Caller at the bank at the same time was J. P. Morgan, also just back from Europe. Wall Street is inclined to look for some constructive development in the international banking situation, but seems to be very much in the dark about it all.

The weekly federal reserve statement, showing a further small decline of $11,000,000 in brokers' loans, and further extension of credit to meet seasonal and month end demands, failed to provide much of interest. Call money was possibly a little firmer at 2 percent. Outside offerings at 14 percent were small. The fall of the French cabinet was not regarded as a complicating development, and French exchanges held fairly steady, although there was a slight sag in the franc.

REMOVE MATHIS STOCK FROM N. Y. CURB MART

New York (AP)—The New York Curb exchange has removed from temporary listing class B stock of American Mathis Inc., a company formed in August of this year to sell in America the Mathis automobile, a small car of French design.

Action was taken because of failure of the company to apply for temporary listing and to submit a statement of its financial condition. The stock was offered to the public by American Mathis, Inc., Sept. 15 at $15 a share. A prospectus issued with the offering said that Durant Motors, of Michigan, had retained a contract for manufacture of 100,000 cars. Later the Durant company announced orders had been received for 15,000 cars and it was expected 50,000 units would be manufactured in the first year.

Since its temporary listing, Mathis B stock has been inactive. Only 30 shares were sold in October. The last sale was at 16 1/4 Oct. 14.

Grain Notes

Chicago—Action of the wheat market Thursday indicated that it was easier to sell than it was to buy and that the market showed a disposition to respond to buying. This was partly due to buying credit from the farm board agencies. The other which sold in December and bought May wheat, is enabling cash and orders to get over on their hedges.

Corn bulls are working hard to et prices higher, but the market units into selling on all bulges. The real bulls who have been in the market right along are confident of their position but admit they need outside help. There is said to be less disposition on the part of the outside to take hold of corn except on peaks.

A close observer of the wheat situation says he believes foreign conditions are gradually hardening with the falling off in Russian shipments and that the present low prices for Canadian quality wheat will stimulate foreign consumption and result in a world shipping demand far in excess of current estimates.

HOG PRICES SLUMP; DEMAND DECREASES

Cut in Receipts of 30,000 Fail to Check Hurried Downturn

Chicago (AP)—Hog values slipped again as the follow-up demand for swine tapered off rapidly. Even the cut in receipts of 30,000 as compared with a week ago and a year ago failed to check the downturn. Packers had 10,000 hogs direct and bought 20,000. Shippers had relatively light orders. Underweight lights had the preference and sold up to 8.40 on the first round, general sales running 19-20c under Thursday's average prices.

Common to fair steers made up most of the usual modest Friday run of 2,000 contrasted with more than 7,000 cattle which arrived last Friday of 2,000 contrasted with more than 7,000 cattle which arrived last Friday following the Thanksgiving holiday. Only a mild interest was exhibited by the major operators in the offerings and prices were quotably barely steady with few actual transactions taking place in the first hour. Killers received 117 head of cattle direct. About 1,000 calves were on hand. They met with an indifferent inquiry.

Local packing plants received 4,500 lambs on Thursday, but the bulk of the fresh run of 11,000. Eleven markets had only 48,000 sheep and lambs compared with 33,700 a week ago, but the local supply during the week has been sufficient to supply buyers requirements and buyers were inclined to hold values today.

CORN MART SUFFERS SETBACK; PLACE BIG SUPPLIES ON SALE

Buying Ascribed to Farm Board Allies Steady Wheat Market

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago (AP)—With many carloads of No. 3 yellow corn awaiting sale on railroad tracks here at 2c a bushel under a delivery basis on December contracts, the corn market showed a tendency to collapse today. Numerous stop-loss orders were forced into operation. Some noise, too, was taken of estimates that Argentina at present has 137,000,000 bu of corn immediately available for export. In contrast with corn, buying ascribed to farm board allies steadied the wheat market. A decided break suffered by corn prices today went hand in hand with posting of figures showing that receipts of corn here were mounting, and for 24 hours had reached a total of 267 cars, this compared with 162 cars a week ago, and suggested a more rapid approach to the receipts of a year back than many traders had of late deemed possible, the aggregate on the corresponding day in 1929 being 322 cars. Under such circumstances, corn soon showed a tumble today of nearly 2c a bushel in some cases.

On the other hand, wheat although yielding at times to the influence of corn weakness did so to only a fractional extent. Meanwhile, Buenos Aires dispatches were current here announcing rains throughout the whole northern region of Argentina, where harvesting and threshing are in progress. There were also advices saying it is feared damage from rust in Argentina will be more noticeable as harvest operations extend southward, and that in European countries recent rains have prevented farmers from seeding a full acreage. Oats reflected the course of other cereals. Provisions declined with hog values and with corn as well. Corn receipts today at primary markets taken as a whole aggregated 978,000 bu, against 794,000 a week ago, and 1,178,000 bu at this time last year. According to an estimate today by a leading unofficial authority, farm disappearance of corn to Dec. 1 is 29 percent of the crop, compared with 19.3 per cent average.

VOLUME OF TRADING ON CURB INCREASED

Further Decline in Prices Accompanies Steady Trend of Trade

New York (AP)—A further decline in curb prices was accompanied by a larger volume of trading today. Losses were generally nominal, but the market got few respite from pressure. Word that the Royal Dutch Shell group was planning a campaign to strengthen crude prices had little effect on the petroleum group, which was heavy. Gulf Oil and Standard of Kentucky each lost a point and cities service yielded a major fraction.

Utilities moved narrowly lower, with the largest decline in Electric Bond and Share. Seeling decided, this active leader broke a couple of points. Declines in Niagara Hudson, United Light "A" American and Foreign Power warrants and American Superpower were fractional, but carried the issues to new lows for the reaction.

Investment trust shares weakened. Heavy selling in united founders broke it to a new low, while American Founders, controlled by United, also dipped to a new minimum. Central States Electric and Goldman Sachs trading also lost ground. Changes in the industrials were relatively unimportant, except that they emphasized the lower trend. U. S. Dairy "A", Diamond Match new, Technicolor and others eased. The Ford shares, Walgreen, Crocker Wheeler and MacLennan stores were steady.

Call money renewed at 2 1/2 per cent.

SCHNELLER-GRAFF FEUD FLAMES IN LEGION CIRCLES

Appleton Man Condemned for Opposing Neenah Vet
on National Committee

Renewal of the Frank J. Schneller-Marshall C. Graff feud in state legion circles is foreseen in the recent action of the James B. Hawley post, Neenah, recommending that Graff be removed as a member of the national executive committee. The resolution follows by two weeks, the action taken at a Ninth district midwinter conference at Kaukauna at which Graff was censured for his attacks on Schneller at a meeting of the national executive committee at Indianapolis and was asked that he desist from further activities of a similar nature. Both men are past state commanders of the legion.

The start of the Schneller-Graff feud goes back several months, but it first broke into print previous to the national convention of the legion at Boston when certain sections of the state, admittedly working along lines mapped out by Graff, ignored Schneller's candidacy for national commander and recommended another prominent state legionaire.

BREACH WIDENS
A few weeks later the breach widened with the announcement that Rev. Joe Barnett, Oshkosh, would be a candidate for election as national chaplain. Graff was one of the leaders in the campaign to put him over and because there were two Badgers running for national office it was realized that one would have to back down or both would be defeated.

Barnett refused to consider withdrawal and about two weeks before the convention Schneller wrote to friends asking their approval or disapproval of a letter in which he was announcing that in the best interest of the state he was willing to withdraw from the race. The letter was given to the press by one of the Neenah men's friends who failed to note that it was just a suggestion. Schneller then withdrew from the race for commander a few days after the convention started. Barnett was elected chaplain and Graff forces considered it a victory.

GRAFF ATTACKS
More recently a meeting of the national executive committee, of which Graff is a member, was held at Indianapolis. Here Graff attacked the recommendation that Schneller be reappointed chairman of the national rifle committee. Schneller has won national and international recognition for his activity in the work. Graff further announced he would fight the recommendation from the floor if Schneller was named.

That appears to have been the last straw as far as Schneller and his friends were concerned, and they now have opened an attack on Graff, the first step being the action taken at the Ninth district conference where Schneller attacked Graff during a speech and where the first resolution reprimanding Graff was introduced by Appleton legionaires.
